THE MONSOON OF 1902.

THE following report is published for general information.

A. EARLE,

The 9th February 1903. Offg. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

METEOROLOGICAL SUMMARY FOR THE MONSOON PERIOD OF 1902.

THE following remarks are intended to form the usual brief introduction to the rainfall tables, which give full information regarding the rainfall measured during the south-west monsoon months in all parts of the Province. Only the more important features of the general atmospheric conditions are discussed, and these only when they show a tendency favourable or unfavourable to rainfall.

The cold-season months of January and February were remarkable because of an almost entire absence of rainfall. Weather was fine and settled, and resembled what is usual in November and December, so far as cold-weather disturbances are concerned—a condition which was probably connected with the late withdrawal of the north-east monsoon from the south of the Bay. Cyclonic storms had moved northwards into Bengal as late as the end of November in 1901, and disturbed weather was experienced in the south of the Peninsula well into January.

These may be taken as indications that the establishment of conditions on which the formation of cold-season depressions depend was later than usual, and they would therefore assist in accounting for the absence of rainfall in Bengal during January and February. In January, Orissa received the normal amount, and Chota Nagpur 30 per cent. of the normal. In February, Chota Nagpur received 40 per cent. In all other parts of the Province during these months rainfall was practically nil.

Towards the end of February a slight disturbance crossed the Province, causing a few very light showers. It was of importance chiefly as showing that the unfavourable conditions were passing away.

In March a period of unsettled weather commenced about the 10th and lasted for about two weeks. During that time two depressions approached the Province from the west, and though they did not, as frequently happens, move in an easterly direction into Burma, they caused moderate general rainfall, which was in excess of the normal in the northern districts and in South-West Bengal. The depressions moved in an easterly direction until over the central districts of Bengal when they were forced southward over the Bay. Simultaneously with that change of direction rainfall began in Assam or North Bengal, and from there spread southward and westward over the Province.

Rainfall was general and moderately heavy about the 13th and the 21st to 22nd. North Bengal and Bihar received 260 per cent. of the normal for the month, South-West Bengal 166, and the other divisions about the normal amount.

Weather was almost continuously unsettled during April with numerous thunder-storms and frequent, though scattered, rainfall. The area of disturbance was more over the western districts in the early part of the month, but from about the 14th a very noticeable change occurred. From that date heavy rainfall became of almost daily occurrence in East Bengal and the adjacent part of Assam. There was no great change in the pressure distribution as indicated by the ground-level observations, but the area of disturbance was clearly shown by the temperature variation. Defect in temperature was practically nil in Orissa, Chota Nagpur, and South-West Bengal, while towards the east it ranged rapidly up to 10,° and remained almost steady at that amount throughout the period of disturbance.

During April the Dacca district received four times the usual amount. In Tippera, Noakhali, Chittagong, and part of Mymensingh also, there were similarly heavy falls and generally in East Bengal. The total for the month varied from 10 to 20 inches. The average fall for the division was three times the normal amount of 4·3 inches. In other parts of Bengal Proper there was excess of 2 to 3 inches, and in the western districts a relatively small excess.

Rainfall continued more frequent than usual in Bengal Proper during May, but in the western districts, though not much below the normal as regards the total amount, the showers were more rare, and ordinary hot-season weather generally prevailed.

A severe cyclonic disturbance entered Burma during the first week; and though the depression filled up in Lower Burma, a shallow residual depression moved northwards, and probably crossed the Province from east to west about the 10th. Between that date and the 12th rainfall was general in Bengal, and the falls of those days formed a considerable part of the total rainfall of the month in the western districts.

The rainfall in Bengal Proper was due to local storms, and was therefore irregular in its distribution, but on an average excess in East Bengal was nearly 3 inches, in South-West Bengal about 2 inches, and in North Bengal rather more than 1 inch. In Orissa there was defect of ·7 inch, and Bihar and Chota Nagpur received practically normal falls.

Up to the end of May there was no indication that the commencement of the south-west monsoon would be in any way exceptional, and the experiences of the hot-weather months indicated the probability that rainfall would be more copious than usual.

Only one cyclonic disturbance occurred during June, and that was early in the month.

It first appeared about the 7th and continued to affect weather till the 13th, when it was near the head of the Bay, moving in a northerly or north-easterly direction.

In ordinary years the direction of advance of a disturbance of this kind would have been more westerly, and it would have been followed by monsoon weather in all parts of the Province. Its movement towards the north-east was the cause of an important variation from the usual rainfall distribution. It not only caused general and continued rainfall in the east of the Province, but the showers which had been fairly numerous in the western districts before it developed almost ceased, and the most typical of the hot-season weather during the year occurred in the western districts during the latter half of June.

Between the 13th and the 20th there was a strong indraught from the Bay towards East Bengal and Assam, and during those days a considerable part of the rainfall of the month occurred in the eastern districts. The days of heaviest rainfall in East Bengal were the 14th to 17th, and in North Bengal the 18th to 20th.

The area of lowest pressure moved slowly westward, and at times conditions became more favourable for rain in the western districts, but the only day when any noticeable westerly extension of the monsoon occurred was the 17th, when fairly general rain fell in Orissa and North Bihar.

Owing to a rapid rise of pressure, which began about the 25th and extended south-westward, rainfall almost ceased in the western districts, until about the close of the month when a series of changes commenced in Assam and North Bengal. From there they spread southward and westward over the Province, with numerous thunder-storms, general rainfall, and a rapid fall of temperature. Thereafter ordinary monsoon conditions became established over the Province.

The average rainfall in East Bengal during June was 23 inches, in North Bengal 19, while in the other divisions it varied from 6 inches in South-West Bengal to 3 inches in Chota Nagpur. Defect was 6 inches in Chota Nagpur, 4·7 inches in South-West Bengal, 4 inches in Orissa, and 3·4 inches in Bihar.

During July well-marked monsoon conditions were general and continuous. All divisions of the Province received more than normal rainfall. There were, however, scattered areas in which rainfall was deficient, though not to any great extent. These were chiefly in Bihar and the southern parts of Bengal Proper, and there was a small deficiency in part of Chota Nagpur and North Bengal. Orissa was the only division which received uniformly heavy rain.

Three disturbances occurred during July. The first was early in the month, the second about the middle, and the third about the 24th. The first of these began as a diffused depression about the 4th, extending over the south of the Bay, and causing, if the reports from Diamond Island be accepted, very strong winds in the east of the Bay. The depression formed farther south than is usual in July, and moving in a north-westerly direction crossed the coast of the Circars on the 6th. Notwithstanding the high pressure then prevailing in Bengal, heavy rainfall occurred on the 5th and 6th, but with the westward movement of the disturbance the rainfall diminished, and during the second week weather was drier than at at any other time during the month.

The second depression formed over the north of the Bay about the 13th. It never attained to more than moderate depth near the centre, but there was a steep gradient over the Bay with strong southerly winds and rough sea on the Bengal coast after the depression moved north-westward. While the depression was in the north of the Bay heavy rain fell in Orissa and Arakan, and after its passage westward the strong influx of monsoon winds from the Bay caused heavy rain inland, chiefly in Bengal Proper. Moderately heavy rainfall occurred in Bihar on the 19th and 20th, but generally in the western districts, whether at the time of, or subsequent to the passage of, the depression, the falls were comparatively light.

After the second disturbance passed westward, and chiefly during the third week, large pressure oscillations occurred, apparently due to the westward passage of a wave of rising pressure. Heavy rainfall accompanied these changes in different parts of the Province, and a shallow depression developed over South-West Bengal again, with a steep gradient over the Bay, strong southerly winds on the Bengal coast, and heavy rainfall inland. At the end of July ordinary monsoon conditions prevailed over the Province with light or moderate rainfall.

The principal disturbance in the first half of August was similar to the one which occurred at the end of June, and led to the general commencement of monsoon weather in the western districts. As on that occasion, a fall of pressure began in Assam and North Bengal and extended southward over the Province, but chiefly westward along the Himalayan range. Rainfall began in the extreme east of Assam on the 9th. It extended to North Bengal on the 10th, and then came a general heavy fall over the whole of Bengal Proper on the 11th. This westerly and southerly extension of the rainfall area ceased suddenly, and the heavy falls of the 12th were confined to the hills and submontane districts.

The rainfall of those days forms a considerable part of what was recorded in North Bengal during August, as an important change began soon afterwards—a change which may not have been independent of the earlier occurrences, but which, in the absence of information, must be treated as separate and independent. During the latter half of the month three depressions either formed over the south and centre of the Bay or entered the Bay from Burma, moving in a north-westerly direction. In the northern districts, owing to the indraught towards these low-pressure areas, northerly winds generally prevailed, and rainfall was light and scattered. Even in the south-western districts, which came more under the influence of these disturbances, rainfall was neither heavy nor continuous.

Owing to the heavy rainfall in the early part of August, average rainfall in North Bengal was 23 per cent. in excess, and there was a slight excess in Orissa because of the cyclonic disturbances during the latter half. In other divisions there was more or less defect—in Lower Bengal about 10, in Bihar 30, and in Chota Nagpur 40 per cent. of the normal.

The occurrence of cyclonic disturbances in the Bay, so marked a feature in the latter half of August, continued during the early part of September, so that the monsoon conditions were well maintained in Bengal, especially in North Bengal, where even in apparently settled weather heavy rainfall was of almost daily occurrence. The average fall in North Bengal in September was 25 inches (nearly 10 inches in excess), and in Bihar the fall was 14 inches, or 4 inches in excess.

Early in the month the depressions showed a change from those of August. Instead of moving westward into Central India they moved northwards, so that weather was more disturbed in Bengal. This change became more marked towards the end of the month, when a well-developed cyclonic disturbance moved northwards over Chota Nagpur into Bihar and from there turned eastward, causing very heavy rainfall in the Himalayas and submontane districts.

Rainfall generally occurred in three periods, except in North Bengal and the adjacent part of Bihar, where it was almost continuous and frequently heavy. In the first of these, that is, during the early days of the month, general light rainfall occurred, chiefly in the western districts, because the depression to which it was due moved rapidly westward. On the second occasion, about a week later, the depression passed into the central districts and filled up there. In consequence the rainfall in Bengal was more general and heavy than during the previous disturbance. On the third, towards the end of the month, heavy rain fell in all parts of the Province, but more especially in the western and northern districts. The average fall for September was 25 inches in North Bengal, 13·6 inches in Bihar, 12·5 in East Bengal, 12 in Chota Nagpur, about 10 in South-West Bengal, and 7·3 in Orissa.

Owing to the absence of cyclonic storms in October, rainfall was much lighter than usual, especially in the western districts. A shallow depression moved northwards from the Bay into East Bengal in the early days of the month and caused general rainfall over the greater part of the Province on the 3rd. The falls were most heavy in Lower Bengal, and a number of stations in East Bengal received more than 3 inches on the 3rd and 4th. Only a few showers fell after the 4th, and after the 11th East Bengal was practically rainless.

A disturbance of a kind unusual in October passed over the western districts about the 19th. There appears to have been a series of thunder-storms of the nature of nor' westers occurring in rapid succession, first in Bihar, then in Chota Nagpur and the Sonthal Parganas, and afterwards in South-West Bengal late on the 18th or early on the 19th. The changes of pressure on the 19th at 8 A.M. showed that the area of disturbance included Raniganj, Purulia, Bankura, and Burdwan, and about an hour later a thunder-storm with a rapid rise of pressure commenced at Calcutta. It was probably owing to that disturbance that most of the stations in Bihar and over a tract of country extending from the west of Bihar to South-West Bengal reported moderate rainfall on the 19th. Subsequent to the 19th and throughout November and December the Province was practically rainless.

METEOROLOGICAL OFFICE, BENGAL,
The 14th January 1903.

C. LITTLE,
Meteorological Reporter to the Govt. of Bengal.

PRELIMINARY FORECAST ON THE WHEAT CROP OF BENGAL, 1902-1903.

THE following note is published for general information.

A. EARLE,
Offg. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

The 10th February 1903.

DEPARTMENT OF LAND RECORDS AND AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

Preliminary Forecast on the Wheat Crop of Bengal, 1902-1903.

Preliminary.—Wheat is grown chiefly in Bihar, in the Murshidabad and Nadia districts of the Presidency Division, in the Rajshahi, Rangpur and Pabna districts of the Rajshahi Division, and in the Palamau and Hazaribagh districts of Chota Nagpur.

2. Character of the season.—The rainfall in September was general and plentiful in all these districts. In October the fall was very deficient everywhere, except in Darbhanga, and there was practically no rain in Chota Nagpur and South Bihar. November was a very dry month. On the whole the sowing season was generally favourable to the wheat crop, but it has suffered since from want of moisture.

3. Area sown.—The total normal area under wheat in the Province is now returned at 1,505,400 acres instead of 1,490,900 acres reported last year. The area planted this year is estimated at 1,460,000 acres against 1,400,400 acres sown last year.

4. Character of the crop.—From the annexed abstract of the district returns, it will be seen that of the nineteen large wheat-growing districts in the Province, only five (Pabna, Gaya, Champaran, Malda and the Sonthal Parganas) anticipate a normal outturn; in six the outturn is estimated at from 90 to 93 per cent.; in three it varies between 80 and 88 per cent.; and in three more between 60 and 79 per cent., while in Nadia and Palamau 55 and 53 per cent. respectively of a normal crop is anticipated. According to the estimates of the local officers, the outturn for the Province will amount to only 89 per cent. of a normal crop. The yield appears to have been under-estimated, and it is probably safe to estimate the Provincial outturn at not less than 92 per cent. of an average crop.

C. G. H. ALLEN,
Offg. Director of Land Records and Agriculture, Bengal.

FORECAST OF THE LATE COTTON CROP OF BENGAL, 1902-1903.

THE following note is published for general information.

A. EARLE,
Offg. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

The 9th February 1903.

DEPARTMENT OF LAND RECORDS AND AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

Forecast of the Late Cotton Crop of Bengal, 1902-1903.

Character of the season.—The late cotton crop which is sown in autumn and is harvested at the beginning of summer is grown in only fifteen districts of this Province, the most important being Saran (14,900 acres), Muzaffarpur (6,100), and Cuttack (5,700). It is not grown at all in Bengal Proper, except to a small extent in the districts of Bankura and Midnapore. The rainfall in September was plentiful in all the districts growing late cotton, excepting Bankura, Midnapore, and the districts of the Orissa Division. The fall was very deficient in the following month throughout the area, excepting in Darbhanga. In November the drought was emphasised in all the late cotton districts, excepting those in the Chota Nagpur Division. There has been practically no rain since then, and the season has not been favourable for this crop.

2. Area sown.—According to the district returns summarised in the appendix, the normal area under late cotton amounts to 54,800 acres only. The area planted this year is estimated at only 46,600 acres, the weather at sowing time having been very unfavourable in some of the districts.

3. Character of the crop.—It will be seen from the statement appended to this forecast that out of the fifteen districts in the Province in which late cotton is grown, only two, viz. Balasore and Singhbhum, report an outturn of 100 per cent., in eight the estimate varies from 73 to 95 per cent., while in the remaining five districts no more than from 50 to 65 per cent. of a normal crop is anticipated. According to the estimate of the District Officers, the Provincial outturn is expected to be 83 per cent. of a normal crop. In some districts of Bihar, however, the crop appears to have been underestimated, and I anticipate that an 85 per cent. crop will be harvested eventually in the Province as a whole.

4. Gross outturn.—According to the district estimates, the total yield of this crop will be lbs. 2,872,710 as compared with lbs. 2,915,572 of last year.

Offg. Director of Land Records and Agriculture, Bengal.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from eye observations.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

N.B.—In the weekly abstract from 18th to 24th January 1903 read ·399 for ·3 as vapour tension of the 24th January 1903.

No. 715M.—The 13th February 1903.—It is hereby notified for general information that, in supersession of the rules prescribed under Government Circular No. 36M., dated 31st August 1894, and Government Notification No. 636T.—M., dated the 3rd October 1895, the Lieutenant-Governor has been pleased to make the following rules for the preparation, submission, and execution of projects for water-supply or drainage by local authorities under section 69, sub-sections (i) and (ii) of the Bengal Municipal Act, 1884, as amended up to date, and section 138, sub-sections (e) and (m) of the Bengal Local Self-Government Act, 1885 :—

1. When a local authority desire to undertake a project for water-supply or drainage, they should, in the first place, take measures to draw up a sketch of the project, showing how it is to be carried out and what will be, roughly speaking, the approximate cost.

2. As regards the preliminary surveys required for the preparation of any project of water-supply or drainage, the local authority may either make their own arrangements for the employment of the necessary surveying staff, subject to the approval of the Sanitary Engineer, or may apply to the Sanitary Engineer to procure for them competent persons specially for the work. The Sanitary Engineer cannot himself ordinarily perform the work of making rough surveys, but he will act as the adviser of the local authority, and will, as far as practicable, engage surveyors for them if they desire it, and will, if instruments are available, lend them to local authorities on payment of the prescribed fee. If any maps of surveys are prepared in the Sanitary Board's office, a fee will be charged, fixed so as to cover, on an average, the actual expenses incurred.

NOTE.—The Sanitary Board have several sets of surveying instruments, which are available on loan to municipalities at the following rates per mensem :—

(1) Rupees seven for a level and two staves.
(2) Rupees three for a prismatic compass.
(3) Rupee one for a chain.

3. When a sketch project has been drawn up, an application must be addressed to the Municipal Department of Government, accompanied by a statement of the approximate cost, and the funds available for meeting it, either from current revenue or by way of loan.

4. The proposal will be considered by the Municipal Department, and administrative sanction will be given if the Government is satisfied—

First—That the work projected is really required, and that the advantage to health, which it is expected to ensure, is commensurate with the probable cost.

Second—That the scheme is financially sound, i.e., that the local authority can meet the cost from revenue or can arrange to repay the loan within 30 years at the prescribed rate of interest.

Third—That it is sound from an engineering point of view, i.e., that the work can be done effectually in the manner and for the cost proposed.

5. The Sanitary Board will be consulted (if any doubt exists) on the first and third points before approval is given; and if the rough or approximate estimate has not been furnished by the Sanitary Engineer, it will be checked by that officer

6 When administrative sanction has been given, and in no case before, the local authority may arrange for the preparation of detailed plans and estimates, and in doing this may follow one or other of the following courses :—

(a) the plans and estimates may be prepared by their own officers;
(b) application may be made to the Sanitary Engineer for assistance in the selection of competent surveyors to carry out the work;
(c) application may be made to the Sanitary Board for the services of the Sanitary Engineer;
(d) application may be made to the officers of the Public Works Department employed in the district or division for assistance and advice;
(e) with the previous sanction of the Sanitary Board, the work may be entrusted to a private firm of established reputation.

In cases (a), (b), and (e) the Sanitary Engineer or other officer appointed for the purpose may, with the sanction of the Sanitary Board, be required to examine and criticise the plans and estimates while in course of preparation.

In case (c), if funds are available, the Sanitary Engineer, with the sanction of the Sanitary Board, may be required to draw up the detailed plans and estimates of the schemes.

7. When the plans and estimates have been completed, they will be forwarded in duplicate to the Sanitary Board with a full report on the financial aspects of the scheme, and state of public feeling in regard to it, and, if a loan is needed, with an application in the prescribed form. The Sanitary Board will then submit the plans, report, and application to the Municipal Department, with an expression of their opinion on the merits of the scheme as finally drawn up.

8. The following fees are leviable by the Sanitary Board from local bodies for the works specified below:—

(a) Two per cent. on the estimated cost of all drainage and water-works schemes for which detailed estimates and drawings are prepared.

This charge does not include the cost of survey, but is solely on account of work done in the Board's office.

(b) One-half per cent. on the first Rs. 20,000, and one-quarter per cent. on the balance of the estimated cost, when only approximate estimates are prepared and no drawings are required.

This charge will apply when estimates furnished by municipalities are checked and examined. In the event of detailed plans and estimates being subsequently supplied, the full charge under (a) will be made in addition.

(c) Rupees five for all tracings (double elephant size) of surveys and levels or sections.

(d) Rupees three for tracings of all drawings, such as a bridge or culvert, etc.

9. In the case of works estimated to cost Rs. 10,000 or more, the sanction of Government will be contingent on adequate provision being made for detailed engineering supervision. In the absence of special sanction to the contrary, the local authority must agree to such one of the following conditions as may be considered suitable in each case :—

(a) that the works shall be carried out by the Public Works Department if that Department can undertake them. In such cases an extra charge of 15 per cent. on the sanctioned estimate will be made for supervision, unless the case is one of extraordinary difficulty, in which case a higher charge may be imposed by the orders of Government; or

(b) that arrangements shall be made with the District Board for the work to be carried out by the District Engineer and his staff; or

(c) that the works shall be carried out under the supervision of an Engineer specially employed for the purpose, who must hold a certificate of qualification as a District Engineer according to the rules under the Bengal Local Self-Government Act, III of 1885;

(d) that the works shall be carried out by a private engineering firm of established reputation, subject to the conditions—

(1) that no contract for the execution of the work shall be entered into by the local authority until all the tenders received for the work have been considered by the Sanitary Board, and until the deed of contract with all documents attached thereto has been approved by the Board; and

(2) that the works while in progress shall be periodically inspected by the Sanitary Engineer or other officer appointed for the purpose.

10. In the case of works costing less than Rs. 10,000, the local authority should report, for the information of the Commissioner of the Division, the agency by which they propose to have the works carried out, and should follow the instructions issued by him in the matter.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from eye observations.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

MARINE DEPARTMENT.

The 17th February 1903.

No. 20Marine.—In exercise of the powers conferred upon him by section 126, sub-section (3), of the Calcutta Port Act, 1890, and in supersession of previous orders, the Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to sanction the following bye-laws for the safe and convenient use of the Port Commissioners' Dry Docks, made by the Commissioners in meeting, under section 126, sub-section (1), clauses (c) and (i), of the Act.

W. A. INGLIS,
Offg. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

1. Applications to dock vessels in the Dry Docks shall be made in writing to the Deputy Conservator in the printed form attached (Appendix A), which may be obtained at the Harbour Master's office. Such applications shall be entered in the order in which they are received in an Entry List. Any steam-vessel, but not a sailing vessel, may be entered for docking before her arrival.

2. No vessel shall be entitled to be admitted into the Dry Docks without having the time and manner of her entry into, and of her remaining in, the Dry Docks previously regulated at the office of the Deputy Conservator in books to be kept there for that purpose. The Owner, Agent or Master of a vessel shall therefore, as soon as practicable after her arrival in the Port of Calcutta, submit an application, under his own signature, for regulation, in the form attached (Appendix B).

3. Until the Deputy Conservator shall have issued to the Master a regulation order in the form attached (Appendix C), no such application as aforesaid shall be deemed to have been accepted, and no regulation as to the time and manner of the entry of a vessel into a Dock, or of her remaining there, shall be deemed to have been made.

4. Prior to the time arranged for the admission of any vessel into the Dry Docks, the following arrangements must be carried out on board the vessel and order taken with reference thereto, viz.—

Suitable hawsers and heaving lines must be in readiness on each side fore and aft and gantlines rove for mast-head pendants.

The vessel must be in ballast trim, must be upright and, as nearly as possible, on even keel, and the bilges must be perfectly dry fore and aft and kept so. All side and stern ports to be shut.

The ballast tanks must either be pressed full with their doors properly secured or pumped quite dry, and, when possible, with their doors off ready for examination.

In the event of any Owner, Agent or Master being desirous of docking a vessel with cargo, the total weight of vessel and cargo shall be declared, and the Commissioners may refuse to dock such vessel if they consider it right to do so without assigning any reason for their refusal.

The Owner, Agent or Master of the vessel shall likewise be bound to make known to the Commissioners in writing on the application (Appendix B) the style of construction of the vessel's bottom, e.g., whether she has a bar-keel, a keel-plate or camber in the keel, or any overhanging, or other special construction.

The vessel's crew shall render every assistance when docking and undocking, and if, in the opinion of the Deputy Conservator, extra hands are required on board, they shall, for that purpose, be provided by the applicant.

If so required by the Dock Officers, the awnings shall be furled.

The vessel may be inspected by a Dock Officer, and should he find that any of the above-mentioned provisions of this bye-law have not been carried out, the vessel may be refused admission into the Dry Docks.

5. Save as hereinafter mentioned, no vessel shall remain in the Dry Docks longer than the time for which such vessel shall have been regulated. If before the expiration of the time for which a vessel has been regulated the Deputy Conservator shall be satisfied, on written application to be made to him for that purpose, that circumstances not known when the vessel was regulated, or beyond the control of the parties engaged in the work, will prevent the completion, within the period for which the vessel was regulated, of work which can only be done in a Dry Dock, a new regulation may, if the Deputy Conservator thinks proper, be made for such further time, but no vessel shall be allowed to remain in the Dry Docks for more than four days in all without special sanction from the Vice-Chairman of the Commissioners.

6. In regulating the admission of vessels into the Dry Docks preference shall be given to vessels with a gross tonnage of not less than 1,000 tons, and the Deputy Conservator shall likewise be at liberty, with the approval of the Vice-Chairman, to give priority of regulating to such vessels as shall require the use of the Docks for the least time not exceeding 24 hours, without regard to the order in which such vessels stand on the list. But no vessel to which priority shall have been given under this provision shall be entitled, under any circumstances, to remain in the Dry Docks beyond the time for which she was regulated.

7. If any vessel shall not leave the Dry Docks at the expiration of the period for which she was regulated or re-regulated, the Deputy Conservator may, with the approval of the Vice-Chairman, remove any such vessel.

8. The Deputy Comservator may, in his discretion, allow any vessel, which shall have put back in a damaged condition, or which shall, under any other circumstances, be in such a condition as may in his judgment render her immediate admission to the Dry Docks actually necessary, to enter the Dry Docks in priority to all other vessels standing on the regulating list.

9. Blocks, shores and stages will be provided by the Commissioners as follows:—

Blocks.—One set for the length given at the time of regulating.

Bilge Shores.—In such number as may be required.

Horizontal Shores.—Two for every 15 feet of the length given at the time of regulating.

Stages and Stage-ropes with poles or outriggers.—A sufficient number to make one tier of stages round the vessel.

10. No block, shore, stage, pole, rope or other article belonging to the Commissioners may be removed without the permission of the Commissioners' Officer in charge of the Docks.

11. No article belonging to the Dry Docks may be destroyed, cut or otherwise damaged or allowed to go adrift, nor timber or other heavy thing thrown down upon the steps and stonework, nor passed into or out of the Docks otherwise than by the means prepared for that purpose.

12. No ballast, coals or any weights shall be shifted in or taken on board a vessel during the time she is in a Dry Dock.

And no out-board work shall be carried on in regard to a vessel during the time she is being docked or undocked.

13 Any breach of bye-laws Nos. 4, 5, 7, 10, 11 and 12 shall be punishable with a fine not exceeding Rs. 500, and, when the breach is a continuing breach, to a further fine which may extend to Rs. 200 for every day after the first during which the breach continues.

BENGAL ACT No. I OF 1903.

An Act to validate certain transfers, made under the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885, of permanent tenures and holdings at fixed rents or fixed rates and of shares in the same; and to amend section 106 of that Act. VIII of 1885.

WHEREAS doubts and difficulties have arisen respecting the meaning and effect of sections 12, 13, 17 and 18 of the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885, as regards the payment of the prescribed landlord's fee, and the effect of the non-payment of such fee; VIII of 1885.

And whereas it is expedient to declare that registered transfers and sales and decrees or orders for foreclosure of mortgage, confirmed and made absolute by the Civil Courts, of permanent tenures and holdings at fixed rates and fixed rents, and of shares in such tenures and holdings, shall not be deemed to be invalid merely on the ground that the landlord's prescribed fee has not been paid;

And whereas it is also expedient to amend section 106 of the said Act in manner hereinafter appearing;

And whereas, the said Act having been passed by the Governor General of India in Council, the sanction of the Governor General has been obtained, under section 5 of the Indian Councils Act, 1892, to the passing of this Act; 55 & 56 Vict., c. 14.

It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Validation of transfers of tenures and holdings and shares in the same.

Realization of fee when left unpaid.

2. In any case where the prescribed fee has been or may hereafter be left unpaid, the landlord may, within two years of the commencement of this Act, or within two years of the date of registration of the document effecting the transfer, or within two years of the date of confirmation of the sale by the Civil Court, or within two years of the date upon which a decree or order absolute for the foreclosure of a mortgage has been or may hereafter be made by the Civil Court, apply to the Collector for realization of such fee from the transferee, or from the auction-purchaser or from the person who has obtained an order absolute for foreclosure of mortgage in the Civil Court, and on such application being presented, the Collector shall realize such fee if still unpaid, together with costs of realization, from such person as if it were an arrear of revenue.

Saving of section 88.

3. Nothing in section 1 shall be deemed to affect the provisions of section 88 of the said Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885. VIII of 1885.

Substitution of a new section for section 106.

Institution of suit before a Revenue-officer.

Provided that the Revenue-officer may, subject to such rules as the Local Government may prescribe in this behalf, transfer any particular case or class of cases to a competent Civil Court for trial."

Saving of right to claim reduction or enhancement of rent.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE object of this Bill is to amend the statute law relating to landlord and tenant in the Chota Nagpur Division, except the district of Manbhum, that law being contained in the Chota Nagpur Landlord and Tenant Procedure Act (Bengal Act I of 1879) and the Chota Nagpur Commutation Act, 1897 (Bengal Act IV of 1897).

The amendments proposed by the Bill are designed to meet the following objects namely:—

(1) to facilitate the acquisition of occupancy-rights [clause 3];

(2) to prevent the exaction of more than customary rates of rent from non-occupancy raiyats [clause 4];

(3) to restrict the alienation of raiyats' holdings [clause 5];

(4) to penalise the levy by landlords of anything in excess of the rent legally payable [clause 6];

(5) to strengthen the provisions as to the giving of receipts for rent paid by tenants [clauses 7 and 8];

(6) to recognise the preparation of a record-of-rights and to prevent the alteration for a term of years, of rents entered in a record-of-rights [clause 9];

(7) to simplify the existing procedure for the registration of transfers and successions in tenures [clauses 10, 12 and 13];

(8) to regulate the right to bring collective or successive rent-suits [clauses 15 and 16];

(9) to make all tenures saleable for arrears of rent [clauses 19 and 20];

(10) to enable a judgment-debtor to get the sale of his tenure set aside on certain conditions [clause 21]; and (11) to improve the law for the commutation of prædial conditions or services [clauses 27 and 28].

NOTES ON CLAUSES.

1. Clause 1.—No "local extent" clause being inserted, the Bill will extend to the same area as the two Acts which it amends, namely, the whole of the Chota Nagpur Division, except the district of Manbhum.

2. Clause 2.—Sub-clause (1) declares that the phrase "Deputy Collector," as used in Bengal Act I of 1879, shall include Sub-Deputy Collectors. This amendment is required because Sub-Deputy Collectors have, since the passing of the Act of 1879, come to be employed in Chota Nagpur.

Sub-clause (2) introduces—

(i) a definition of "Deputy Commissioner," which is based on section 3 (16) of the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885, and is intended to supplement section 133 of Bengal Act I of 1879;

(ii) definitions of "holding," "landlord," "permanent tenure," "tenant," "tenure," "tenure-holder" and "raiyat," which are taken from the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885;

(iii) a definition of "rent," which is taken from section 3 (5) of the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885, words being expressly added to exclude "prædial services or conditions;" and

(iv) a definition of "resumable tenure," clause (ii) of which is framed so as to include Ramghur tenures and tenures granted for the life of the donee only.

3. Clause 3.—The amendment introduced by this clause is based on Explanation II to section 44 of the Central Provinces Tenancy Act, 1898. It is designed to safeguard raiyats against attempts by landlords to prevent the acquisition of occupancy-rights by the device of changing the raiyats' lands.

4. Clause 4.—The proviso introduced by this clause is intended to give non-occupancy raiyats the benefit of local custom in the settlement of their rents.

5. Clause 5.—The two new sections introduced by this clause are based on corresponding provisions contained in sections 46 and 70 of the Central Provinces Tenancy Act, 1898. They impose restrictions on the sale or other transfer of the rights of raiyats in their holdings. Such transfers are contrary to custom in Chota Nagpur, and have been declared by the Civil Courts of Ranchi to be opposed to the intention of the law. The practice of transferring such rights is, however, gradually forcing its way; and, in the absence of any distinct provision of law to the contrary, the Courts have been driven to recognise them as between the parties themselves, though not theoretically binding on the landlord. There is a consensus of opinion, both official and non-official, in the Division, that resort should be had to legislation, in the interests of an ignorant aboriginal population, to prevent the further progress of the practice.

6. Clause 6.—Section 11 of Bengal Act I of 1879 gives tenants a right to recover damages for exactions in excess of rent. Clause 6 of the Bill repeals that section and substitutes for it a section, similar to section 10 of the Central Provinces Tenancy Act, 1898, empowering Revenue officers to impose a fine in such cases, and directing the payment of the fine to the tenant.

The portion of section 11 of Bengal Act I of 1879 which relates to the withholding of receipts for rent is superseded by sub-section (3) of the new section 12 in clause 7 of the Bill.

7. Clause 7.—This clause amends the present law as to receipts for rent, by—

(a) requiring such receipts to be signed and to be prepared in a prescribed form,

(b) requiring landlords to retain a counterfoil of each receipt, in a prescribed form, and

(c) authorising the Deputy Commissioner to summarily impose a fine on landlords failing to grant a receipt.

The present law merely allows tenants to recover damages by suit, when a receipt is withheld; and they are, it is apprehended, often unable or unwilling to institute such a suit against their landlords.

In order to make the new section more effective, all Courts finding, in the course of any suit or other proceeding before them, that a receipt has been withheld, are required to bring the matter to the notice of the Deputy Commissioner in view to the exercise of the powers of punishment now proposed to be conferred upon him. It is alleged that one cause of the agrarian discontent which exists in parts of this Division is owing to rent receipts not being given.

8. Clause 8 introduces a paragraph authorising rent which has been deposited in Court to be returned to the depositor if it remains unclaimed for three years. The paragraph is taken from section 64 (3) of the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885, and will introduce uniformity of practice throughout Chota Nagpur.

9. Clause 9 introduces two new sections. The first section (28A) is based on section 111 of the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885, and prohibits Deputy Commissioners from entertaining suits or applications for the alteration of rent or the determination of the status of tenants while a record-of-rights is being prepared.

The second section (28B) is based on section 113 of the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885, and prescribes periods during which rents entered in a record-of-rights are to remain unaltered.

10. Clauses 10 to 13.—Sections 34 to 36 of Bengal Act I of 1879 deal with the registration of successions to tenures. The sections are very loosely worded, and it is necessary, in the interests of both parties, to simplify the procedure and remove causes of constant friction. The following amendments are proposed by clauses 10 to 13 of the Bill.

11. Clause 10 amends section 34 of the Act—

(1) by expressly limiting its terms to resumable tenures, which are defined by clause 2 (f) of the Bill. As the section stands in the Act, it is open to the landlord to apply to be put in possession of any heritable tenure the succession to which has not been registered, but he ought to be entitled to make such an application in the case of "resumable" tenures only;

(2) by declaring that successions to resumable tenures may be notified to the landlord by, and registered at the instance of, any person in actual possession of the tenure. Transfers of resumable tenures have frequently been made by the grantees or their heirs. The Act, as it now stands, ignores the transferee, and the landlord has in consequence to deal either with a tenant who is out of possession or with a transferee whose right he disputes;

(3) by declaring that applications for the registration of transfers effected in the past must be made within two years from the time when the Bill becomes law;

(4) by authorising the Deputy Commissioner, when he receives an application from a landlord to be placed in possession of a resumable tenure, a succession to which has not been registered, to issue a notice requiring such registration, not only to the tenure-holder himself, but also (in the alternative) to any other person in actual possession of the tenure or to all persons claiming to be in possession;

(5) by declaring that the possession to be given to the landlord of a resumable tenure, when a succession is not registered, shall be free of incumbrances, as defined in clause 2 (f) of the Bill, that is to say, free of all rights or interests (with certain specified exceptions) which have been created, without the consent of the grantor, in limitation of the grantee's interest. The fact of the landlord being placed in possession of a resumable tenure by the Deputy Commissioner will not, of course, debar the grantee or his heirs, if in existence, and if entitled to hold the tenure, from bringing a suit to recover possession thereof.

12. Clause 11 repeals section 35 of the Act, so as to make way for the more precise provisions proposed in clause 13.

13. Clause 12 makes two consequential amendments in section 36 of the Act.

14. Clause 13 introduces a new section, declaring precisely what portions of the Act relating to the registration of successions to resumable tenures are to apply to the registration of successions to permanent tenures.

The section further declares that applications for the registration of all successions which have occurred in the past must be made within two years from the time when the new Act comes into force.

The section also declares that tenure-holders who fail to apply for the registration of successions, as required by the section, shall be debarred from recovering rent. This provision is based on section 16 of the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885, and is proposed as being, so far as can be foreseen, the only effective means of compelling applications for registration.

15. Clause 14 repeals certain words in section 37 (2) of the Act which are no longer required, in view of the proposed repeal of section 11 by clause 6 of the Bill.

16. Clause 15.—Objections have been felt to allowing an unlimited number of raiyats to be sued collectively. This clause proposes an addition to section 39 of the Act to enable the Local Government to make rules for limiting the number.

17. Clause 16 introduces a new section, on the lines of section 147 of the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885, postponing for six months the right of a landlord to bring successive rent-suits. The period prescribed in the Act of 1885 is three months, but a longer period would be more appropriate in Chota Nagpur, where distances are so great and the harassment to defendants in being brought up to Court is proportionately increased.

18. Clause 17 substitutes 30 for 15 days as the period within which parties may apply for the revival of a suit or the alteration or reversal of a decree when judgment has been passed ex parte. This amendment will bring the law in Chota Nagpur tenancy cases into harmony with that prevailing in civil cases under the Indian Limitation Act, 1877, Schedule II, Articles 163 and 164.

19. Clause 18 extends section 82 of Bengal Act I of 1879 to proceedings under the Act generally, so as to admit of local inquiries being made in matters other than suits.

20. Clauses 19 and 20 give relief to the zamindars in recovering rents from tenure-holders, by (1) amending section 123 of Bengal Act I of 1879 so as to make all tenures saleable for arrears of rent, and (2) repealing section 124 of the Act, which prohibits the sale of resumable tenures. The necessity of giving such relief to superior landlords was strongly pressed upon the Government by Mr. Forbes, the late Commissioner of the Chota Nagpur Division.

21. Clauses 21 and 22 make certain amendments in sections 125, 127 and 128 of Bengal Act I of 1879 which are required in consequence of the amendment of section 123 and the repeal of section 124 by clauses 19 and 20 of the Bill.

22. Clause 23 introduces a new section enabling a judgment-debtor to get the sale of his tenure or holding set aside, on paying the amount due under the decree, with costs, and compensation to the purchaser. The section is based on section 174 of the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885, but declares that the compensation payable to the purchaser shall be one-fourth of the purchase-money, instead of the amount prescribed in that Act, namely, five per cent. The proportion fixed by section 21 (b) of the Public Demands Recovery Act, 1895 (as amended by Bengal Act I of 1897, section 12), in a similar case is one-tenth of the auction-price, but this has been found to deter suitable purchasers from bidding, and to have the effect of encouraging speculators. A proposal to raise the proportion payable under the Public Demands Recovery Act to one-fourth has been under consideration, and it is considered, on the basis of this experience, that the proportion to be fixed by the present Bill should be not less than one-fourth of the purchase-money.

23. Clause 24 amends section 133 of the Act of 1879, so as to authorise the Deputy Commissioner to refer cases to a Deputy Collector by general order.

24. Clause 25.—Section 134 of the Act declares that local officers shall be subject to the control of the Commissioner and the Board of Revenue in the performance of their duties under the Act. But it is equally necessary that the exercise of powers should be subject to the same control, and the defect in the section is remedied by clause 21 of the Bill.

25. Clause 26.—Sub-clause (1) repeals certain words in section 135 of the Act, so as to remove the present bar to appeals against orders passed in the course of executing decrees.

Sub-clause (2) inserts certain words in the same section, with the object of removing a conflict between section 135 and the first paragraph of section 121 of the Act.

26. Clause 27.—The proviso to sub-section (3) of section 4 of Bengal Act IV of 1897 declares that, in commuting to a money-rent conditions or services other than rakumats, the amount payable in commutation shall not exceed one-fourth of the annual rent payable by the tenant. The effect of this provision has been that the Act for the commutation of prædial services in Chota Nagpur, from which so much was hoped, has been entirely inoperative. The prædial tenant has a holding, say of the rental value of Rs. 8, of which he pays Rs. 2 in cash, and the balance in labour to the landlord. Under the present law, if the latter agrees to the commutation of the service, he gets only eight annas increase to the rent. He naturally puts every obstacle in the way of commutation. It is reasonable that the commutation should be on more equitable grounds, and it is most necessary that commutation should be accelerated. Clause 27 of the Bill accordingly amends the proviso in question by declaring that the amount payable in commutation shall be so fixed that the total annual rent of the land, including the said amount, shall not exceed the rent which would be legally assessable if the land had not been held subject to any prædial conditions or services.

27. Clause 28 introduces a new section into Bengal Act IV of 1897, to make it clear that proceedings for the commutation of prædial conditions or services into a money-rent are not to bar subsequent claims for a reduction or enhancement of rent.

(2) When any such arrest has been made, the provisions of section 57, sub-sections (2) and (3), and sections 60 to 63 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, shall apply. V of 1898.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

OWING to the appearance of more than one motor-car in the streets of Calcutta and the possibility of their general introduction in the near future, it has been thought advisable to enable the Commissioner of Police and the District Magistrate to make rules for the regulation of the use of motor-cars in Calcutta and Howrah, respectively.

It is feared that the comparative freedom of many streets from heavy traffic may tempt drivers of motor-cars to run their machines at rapid rates of speed, which, taking into consideration the number of unbroken and partially broken horses led and driven in Calcutta and the careless habits of native drivers and pedestrians, is not unlikely to result in serious accidents.

The opportunity has been taken to introduce into the Bill some provisions which will enable the authorities above mentioned to regulate the use of cycles also, as it is doubtful whether they can be treated and controlled as "carriages" under the existing law.

STATEMENT OF THE COURSE OF BUSINESS.

The Hon'ble the President made a statement regarding the course of legislative business during the present Session. In doing so, he said:—

"It is, I believe, the practice for the President to make a statement at the first meeting of this Council with regard to the legislative business which will be laid before it in the course of the Session. But it is impossible for me to proceed to that statement without first alluding to the sentiments which, I feel certain, are uppermost in the minds of us all this morning. The last occasion on which this Council met was the 25th of August, 1902, and its deliberations were presided over, we little thought for the last time, by the late Sir John Woodburn. He carried in him at that moment the seeds of the disease which eventually proved fatal, and he presided in much pain and weariness: in doing so he displayed, never more signally, the consideration for others, the devotion to duty, and the unselfishness which were so conspicuous in his character. The Province still deplores and will long deplore his loss, and the Members of this Council who knew him so well will never forget or cease to admire the unfailing tact, fairness and dignity with which he guided its deliberations.

"No very extensive legislation is likely to demand the attention of this Council during the present Session, for the large Bill to consolidate and amend the law in force in Bengal relating to the Excise Revenue, which has been under consideration for some years, is not yet ready to be introduced into Council, and can hardly be ready during the present Session. We shall be engaged rather upon a series of short Bills dealing with matters of less wide application, but still important enough to require legislation and careful attention. These are five in number.

"The first is the Bengal Tenancy (Validation and Amendment) Bill, 1902, which stands against the name of the Hon'ble Mr. Macpherson, and which we propose to consider with the Report of the Select Committee, and perhaps to pass to-day. The second is a short Bill to amend the Bengal Excise Act, 1878, as regards the conditions to be imposed on holders of Excise licenses in Calcutta, more especially in respect of the employment of women. The Hon'ble Mr. Collin is in charge of this Bill, and it is proposed to introduce it and to refer it to a Select Committee. That concludes the business of the Council for to-day.

"On a subsequent occasion, perhaps the 24th of this month, it is proposed to introduce the third and possibly the fourth of the measures on our programme. The first of these is, a short Bill for regulating the use of motor-cars and cycles in streets and public places in Bengal. The second is a Bill to amend the Chota Nagpur Landlord and Tenant Procedure Act of 1879 and the Chota Nagpur Commutation Act of 1897; this may prove to be a difficult piece of legislation, and even if it be possible to introduce it during the present Session, which is not quite certain, there is no probability of the Bill being passed into law till at least the monsoon Session of this Council.

"At the third meeting of the Council to be held early in March, we hope to advance one or two stages, and perhaps pass two of the foregoing Bills, and to introduce the fifth of the new measures of this Session, viz., a Bill to amend the Chittagong Port Commissioners' Act, 1887.

"Later in the season we shall have two meetings of Council: the first to lay on the table the Provincial Budget, and the second to discuss it, and this will probably close the legislative work of the Session. We shall still be left with a Bill to amend the Salt Law, which is now held in abeyance with the large Excise Bill to which I have referred, and with another measure to which much importance is attached by many of the landed aristocracy of Bengal and all who wish them well—I mean the Bill to facilitate the family settlement of estates in Bengal. The last two of these measures are still under the consideration of the Government of India and are not yet ripe for introduction. It is hoped that they may be undertaken in July or August.

"To these tasks, Gentlemen, let us now address ourselves with that spirit o business-like industry which has long animated and characterised this Council.'

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

AMALGAMATION OF THE CHITTAGONG DIVISION WITH ASSAM.

The Hon'ble MAULVI SERAJ-UL-ISLAM, KHAN BAHADUR, said:—

Will the Government be pleased to inform the Council whether it is true that the Chittagong Division will, from the 1st April, 1903, be amalgamated with the Province of Assam? If so, will the Government kindly state the reasons that have induced them to order the transfer?

The Hon'ble MR. MACPHERSON replied: —

"The Lieutenant-Governor has no information as to any such proposal having been made since this question was discussed six years ago."

LANDLORDS' FEES.

The Hon'ble MAULVI SERAJ-UL-ISLAM, KHAN BAHADUR, said:—

Will the Government be pleased to inform the Council as to the total amount of landlords' fees realised under sections 12 and 13 of the Bengal Tenancy Act from the date of the passing of the Act down to the end of the last financial year?

Will the Government be pleased to inform the Council as to the amounts now in deposit in the Government Treasuries of the different districts of Bengal on account of the landlords' fees realised under the said sections?

The Hon'ble MR. MACPHERSON replied:—

"At this moment complete information is not available to Government as to the total amount of landlords' fees realised under sections 12 and 13 of the Bengal Tenancy Act from the passing of the Act, or as to the amounts now held in deposit on this account in the different Government Treasuries.

"The Board of Revenue have been asked to furnish information in reply to both the questions put by the Hon'ble Member, and this information, when received, will be laid upon the Council table.

"From the year 1897-98 statements have been annually published in the Board's Land Revenue Report showing the receipts and payments of landlords' fees. An abstract of these statements has been prepared and is laid upon the table for the information of Hon'ble Members."

Statement showing the Receipts and Payments of Landlords' fees under Sections 12 to 15 of the Bengal Tenancy Act from 1897-98 to 1901-1902 (as furnished in the Board's Land Revenue Reports for those years).

FEES FOR TRANSFER AND SERVICE OF NOTICE UPON LANDLORDS.

The Hon'ble MAULVI SERAJ-UL-ISLAM, KHAN BAHADUR, asked:—

Is the Government aware that although fees for transfer and service of notice are generally levied, yet as a matter of fact the notices are not served upon the landlords in a large number of cases? Will the Government kindly inquire into this matter?

The Hon'ble MR. MACPHERSON replied:—

"Government has not got precise information on this subject, but an inquiry has been ordered."

RE-ORGANIZATION OF THE SUBORDINATE PROVINCIAL CIVIL SERVICE.

The Hon'ble BABU CHATURBHOOJ SAHAY asked:—

Having regard to the observations made on the 9th April last by the Hon'ble Mr. J. A. Bourdillon, C.S.I., the then Chief Secretary, now presiding at the deliberations of the Council as the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, during the course of the debate on the Bengal Government Budget for the current year with reference to the re-organisation of the Subordinate Provincial Civil Service, which, to quote the words of the Hon'ble President, "is admittedly at present much depressed," may I inquire—

(a) if the re-organisation scheme has reached its final stage;

(b) when it is likely to be published and given effect to?

The Hon'ble MR. MACPHERSON replied:—

"A scheme for the re-organisation of the Subordinate Provincial Civil Service has been submitted to the Government of India, whose orders are awaited."

PROVINCIAL CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATION.

The Hon'ble BABU CHATURBHOOJ SAHAY said:—

Will the Government be pleased to consider the desirability of allowing Sub-Deputy Collectors to compete for the Provincial Civil Service Examination, subject to such restrictions as to age and other points as may be deemed necessary by the Government in the interests of the Service?

The Hon'ble MR. MACPHERSON replied:—

"There are strong objections to allowing candidates who have accepted appointments as Sub-Deputy Collectors to appear again in the examination for Deputy Magistrateships. The Lieutenant-Governor considers that the present practice is preferable, under which promotion to the grade of Deputy Magistrates is given to selected Sub-Deputy Collectors for proved good work in the subordinate grade."

THE BENGAL TENANCY (VALIDATION AND AMENDMENT) BILL, 1902.

The Hon'ble MR. MACPHERSON presented the Report and Supplementary Reports of the Select Committee on the Bengal Tenancy (Validation and Amendment) Bill, 1902.

The Hon'ble MR. MACPHERSON also moved that the Report and Supplementary Reports be taken into consideration, and that the clauses of the Bill be considered in the forms recommended by the Select Committee. He said:—

"The changes in the Bill proposed by the Select Committee are set forth in their reports which are in the hands of Hon'ble Members. In the opinions received by us on the Bill as it was introduced in this Council in August, we found a general agreement that it is necessary, not only to validate transfers of shares of permanent tenures and holdings at fixed rents, which have been inadvertently made without payment of the landlord's fee, but also transfers of entire tenures or holdings so made. It is also generally recommended that we should not only set right, as far as practicable, mistakes made in the past, but further declare that mistakes made in the future with regard to omission of payment of the landlord's fee shall not carry so extreme a penalty as invalidation of the transfer. We then came to the conclusion that the best way of meeting the difficulty is broadly and simply to declare that no transfer of a permanent tenure or holding at a fixed rent or share in such tenure or holding shall be invalid merely because a landlord's fee has not been paid. We were strengthened in this conclusion by finding nothing in the discussions which preceded the passing of the Tenancy Act of 1885 to show that the framers of that measure ever contemplated that omission to pay the landlord's fee should lead to forfeiture of a tenure or holding. It is in this view that clause 1 of the amended Bill before the Council has been shaped.

"While proposing, however, to make clear that non-payment of the landlord's fee shall not invalidate a transfer, we thought it necessary to provide the landlord with a speedy means of recovery of the prescribed fee, and this we give to him in clause 2 of the Bill.

"It remains for me to draw attention to the proviso and Explanation to clause 1 of the Bill which have been framed to meet a serious difficulty. It will be remembered that we are legislating to remedy, so far as lies in our power, unfortunate results of mistakes made by registering officers and by the Courts, and perhaps also it may be said to set right an omission on the part of the framers of the Tenancy Act clearly to express their intention in this matter of payment of transfer fees. But in such a case there is great difficulty in setting back the clock. Transfers have been made and have been declared invalid by the Courts, on the ground that a landlord's fee has not been paid, and further transfers to third and fourth parties have been made in good faith on the strength of rulings of the Courts. What are we to do in such cases? It may be said that there is a choice of evils; but the greater evil appeared to us to be to set aside decisions of the Court which had become final. It would be more dangerous, we think, to establish such a precedent than it is harmful to leave some unredressed.

"If the Council will bear with me for a moment I will try to explain the dilemma. A tenure-holder A has transferred his interest in a tenure by a registered document to B. But in consequence of the erroneous orders which for some ten years obtained in the Registration Department, the landlord's fee has not been received, and B's right, therefore, became insecure. If there has been no litigation our legislation will set things right. But supposing that the Courts have been asked to decide the validity of the transfer, or supposing that they have finally decided, in interpretation of the existing law, that the transfer was invalid because the landlord's fee was not paid, what remedy should we attempt to provide for this state of things? If we set aside the decisions of the Courts in order to help B, we may do wrong to third parties who have relied on those decisions. The Select Committee propose, therefore, to maintain the final decisions of the Courts in such cases. Whatever we do it seems certain that we cannot satisfy every one, and some complications and hard cases must remain. The difficulties of the case have been ably pointed out in two letters written by Babu Akhil Chundra Dutta, a Zamindar and Honorary Magistrate in the Backergunge District, a district which is the special country of the tenure-holder. The Explanation added to the proviso in clause 1 is inserted in deference to, and in acceptance of, the views which Babu Akhil Chundra Dutta advocates. But we have not seen our way to accepting his proposals in entirety.

"Before making the motion which stands in my name in the notice paper and without anticipating remarks which the Hon'ble the Advocate-General and the Hon'ble Babu Chaturbhooj Sahay may be about to offer in support of the amendments which stand in their names, I have to add that the Government will accept both the amendments to be moved by the Hon'ble the Advocate-General, and therefore in substance the first amendment standing against the name of my friend, the Hon'ble Babu Chaturbhooj Sahay.

"I now move that the Report and Supplementary Reports be taken into consideration, and that the clauses of the Bill be considered in the forms recommended by the Select Committee."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

preamble.

The Hon'ble MR WOODROFFE moved that the Preamble be amended by omitting the words after the word "Whereas" in the first line down to the end of the sixth clause thereof and inserting in lieu thereof the words "doubts and difficulties have arisen respecting the meaning and effect of sections 12, 13, 17 and 18 of the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885." He said:—

"There is probably no subject of greater difficulty than the relation of the preamble of an Act to the Act itself. There have been various statements from time to time from the highest judicial authorities in respect of this. It has been said on the one hand that the preamble is the key wherewith to open the Act and shew its object and scope, while later decisions go to shew that a preamble should not be resorted to unless there are doubts and difficulties in the enacting clauses. It seems therefore to me undesirable to afford ground for argument and discussion, seeing that if the preamble is in accordance with the enacting part of the Bill it is useless, and if it is not in precise accordance it may give rise to doubts and difficulties.

"As this amendment has as I understand received the assent of the Government, it requires I think no further words from me to support it. It is not usual now in modern legislation to insert these long preambles. Formerly, they were much in fashion, but the difficulties that have arisen in later years have led to the preamble being as short and precise as possible."

The Hon'ble BABU CHATURBHOOJ SAHAY said:—"The Bill is a short one and the Preamble is unnecessarily long. Moreover, the first four of these paragraphs simply reiterate what is contained in sections 12, 13, 17 and 18 of the Bengal Tenancy Act, and paragraph 5 points out the failure on the part of the Registering Officers to take the prescribed landlord's fee before registering transfer of shares in holdings, which failure can be defended by them on the authority of the opinion expressed in 1888 and 1889 by the then Superintendent and Remembrancer of Legal Affairs as pointed out by the Hon'ble Mr. T. K. Ghosh, the present Inspector-General of Registration, in his letter to the Secretary to the Bengal Council, dated the 18th October last. The law as contained in sections 12 and 17 is not going to be changed, nor is any fresh legal authority going to be vested in the Registering Officers. On these grounds I venture to submit that those paragraphs seem to be unnecessary.

"Furthermore, paragraph 6 also, which does not appear in the original Preamble, seems to be unnecessary, as no useful purpose is served by having it, specially when the law imposing upon the Civil Courts the duty of requiring the purchaser or mortgagee acquiring title under section 13 of the Bengal Tenancy Act to pay into Court the landlord's fee is not going to be altered; and as the non-observance of the law in this connection can be well dealt with in the Executive Department by calling the attention of the Officers and Courts concerned to the irregularities complained of, there is hardly any need for this paragraph. The first object of the measure under discussion is to validate the transfers which, on the authority of the High Court ruling in re Babur Ali versus Krishna Kamini, reported in I. L. R. 26, Cal., 603, would be otherwise invalid.

"The matters contained in these six paragraphs may well appear in the Statement of Objects and Reasons, and may be left out in the Preamble expunging the initial word 'and' from paragraph 7; the rest of the Preamble as published will fully explain the necessity of the present legislation, and that is all that we need in a Preamble. I have only one remark more to offer, and that is that the Preamble is no part of the Statute, so this lengthy Preamble, without in the least sacrificing the principle of the Bill, may be omitted."

The Hon'ble DR. ASUTOSH MUKHOPADHYAYA said:—"I am entirely in favou of the amendment moved by the Hon'ble the Advocate-General, but I would take the liberty to point out that if this amendment is accepted, it will be necessary to make a slight verbal amendment in the last line of the seventh paragraph of the Preamble, viz., that for the word 'said' the words 'landlord's prescribed' be substituted."

The Hon'ble MR. MACPHERSON said:—"I accept the amendment proposed by the Hon'ble the Advocate-General, and also the consequential amendment proposed by the Hon'ble Dr. Asutosh Mukhopadhyaya."

The amendments were then put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble BABU CHATURBHOOJ SAHAY, by leave of the Council, withdrew the motion of which he had given notice that the six first paragraphs of the Preamble and the initial word "and" in the seventh paragraph of the same be omitted as unnecessary.

Clause 1.

The Hon'ble BABU CHATURBHOOJ SAHAY moved that after the words "or holding" in the fifth line of paragraph 1 of clause 1 of the Bill, the following words be added:—

"where a share in a holding is transferable by custom."

He said:—"It does not seem that it was ever the intention of the Legislature to recognise by statutory law the transfer of a share in a raiyati holding with a rate of rent or rent fixed in perpetuity. If it had had any such intention it would have, while making by section 18, clause (a), the provisions with respect to the transfer of a permanent tenure applicable to a transfer of a holding at a rent or rate of rent fixed in perpetuity, expressly made a similar provision with respect to transfer of a share in a holding. The argument that the whole includes the part, therefore the provision for transfer of a whole holding includes the provision for transfer of a share, is, I venture to think, fallacious, and is completely met by the circumstance that when the Legislature wanted that transfer of a share in a permanent tenure should be recognized by law, it did not rest content with having enacted only for transfer of a tenure, leaving the law governing the transfer of a share in a tenure to be inferred by the rule of the whole, including the part, but a special section, viz., section 17, was expressly enacted to govern the transfer of a share in a permanent tenure; so with due deference to the learned Judges who held in the case of Mohesh Chunder Ghose versus Saroda Prosad Sing, reported in I. L. R., 21 Cal., 433, that sections 17 and 18 of the Bengal Tenancy Act recognise the transfer of a share of a holding I submit that this ruling is not convincing, and so we can approach unfettered the consideration of the question which is not free from doubts and difficulties. If the question were free from doubt, the seventh paragraph of the original Preamble of the original Bill before it was recast in the Select Committee would not have, in spite of the aforesaid ruling, recited that doubts have been expressed as to whether clause (a) of section 18 of the Bengal Tenancy Act applies to shares in the holding of the raiyat. Paragraph 3 of the Statement of Objects and Reasons further fortifies my arguments.

"The definitions of the words 'holding,' 'raiyat,' 'tenure' and 'tenure-holder,' all point to the conclusion that there can be no valid transfer of a share in a holding. I may, with advantage, quote here the following passage from a ruling of the High Court, reported in I. L. R., 25 Cal., 917, in re Hari Charan Bose versus Runjit Singh:—

'Holding' means a parcel or parcels of land held by a raiyat and forming the subject of a separate tenancy. Does this mean an entire parcel or entire parcels, or may it also include an undivided fractional share of a parcel or parcels of land? Evidently the definition applies only to an entire parcel or entire parcels, and is not intended to include an undivided share in a parcel or parcels, and the reason seems to be obvious. A raiyati holding, which from the very definition of a 'raiyat' in section 5, sub section (2), means land occupied by a raiyat for the purpose of cultivation, can be ordinarily held only in its entirety, and the cultivation of an undivided fractional share of a parcel of land will be ordinarily meaningless. A 'tenure,' on the other hand, which is the interest of a tenure-holder, who, as defined in section 5, sub-section (1), is a person who has acquired a right to hold land for the purpose of collecting rents or bringing it under cultivation, by establishing tenants on it, may relate only to an undivided fractional share in land without leading to any practical difficulty. And it is for this reason that whilst 'tenure' is defined as the interest of a tenure-holder or an under-tenure holder, "holding" is defined, not as the interest of a raiyat, but as a parcel or parcels of land held by a raiyat and forming the subject of a separate tenancy.'

"Again, the recognition of a transfer of a share in a holding would be a fruitful source of litigation and would tend to embarrass both the landlord and the tenant, which the Legislature ought to try its best to avoid.

"But thinking that fractional shares may be transferable by custom in some places, I respectfully beg to propose that after the words 'in holding' the words 'where share in holding is transferable by custom' be added. The Secretaries to the British Indian Association and Bengal Landholders' Association object to the transfer of a share in raiyati holding being recognized by law"

The Hon'ble MR. MACPHERSON said:—"I am not prepared to advise the Council to accept this amendment. The amendment suggests an interpretation of section 18 of the Bengal Tenancy Act with regard to the transferability of shares in holdings at fixed rates or fixed rents which is not in accordance with the interpretation put upon the section by the High Court in the ruling in the 21st volume of the Law Reports which the Hon'ble Member has read to us. I was not aware of the subsequent ruling contained in the 25th volume which the Hon'ble Member has also cited, and I am not prepared to say what may be the effect of the latter ruling. The Bill as first introduced into this Council contained a clause 3 which proposed to amend section 18 of the Bengal Tenancy Act. The Bill as introduced no longer contains such a clause. As explained in the Select Committee's Report, we considered that it was unnecessary to retain that clause in the view that it is sufficiently clear that section 18 of the Act is covered by section 17 which relates to transfers of shares. The Hon'ble Member's amendment is antagonistic to the interpretation given by the High Court in the earlier ruling which he cited, and it is also antagonistic to the view taken by the Select Committee.

"The amendment proposed by the Hon'ble Member cannot be described as going beyond the scope of the Bill, because the Bill as introduced proposed a declaration of the law on this very point of the transferability of shares of holdings, but our declaration was to have been in a sense very different to that proposed by the Hon'ble Member. The provisions of the existing law say nothing at all about custom in this connection. Custom decides the question of transferability of occupancy holdings, but that is a matter quite different from the question of the transferability of holdings at fixed rates and fixed rents, which is now before the Council. For these reasons I shall vote against the amendment."

The Hon'ble DR. ASUTOSH MUKHOPADHYAYA said:—"I regret I cannot support the amendment moved by my hon'ble friend, Babu Chaturbhooj Sahay. In the first place it seems to me that the amendment is absolutely unnecessary. The section, so far as it relates to the matter now before us, says that 'no transfer of any share in a holding shall be deemed to be invalid merely on the ground that the landlord's fee prescribed by the said sections 12 or 13 has not been paid.' That is to say, if it is invalid on any other ground, it will be so in fact. The only question about which we are now legislating is the payment or non-payment of the landlord's fee. My learned and hon'ble friend apprehends that if the Bill is passed into law as it now stands, it may be argued that the transfer of a share in a holding is permissible. I submit that no such inference can be properly drawn, because all that we say is negatively that such transfer is not invalid merely by the omission of the payment of the landlord's fee.

"In the second place, it seems to me that it would be dangerous to accept the amendment on other grounds. My learned and hon'ble friend wishes to put in these words 'where a share in a holding is transferable by custom.' But suppose a share in a holding is transferable by contract? Suppose that in a number of leases, in the case of tenants of holdings at fixed rates and fixed rents, the contract provides that shares in the holding may be transferred, are we to say that such a transfer is not to be allowed? Why assume that a share in a holding is transferable only by custom and not otherwise?

"I submit therefore that the amendment is absolutely unnecessary, and that if we accept it we may be led into difficulties which we do not foresee at the present moment."

The Hon'ble MR. WOODROFFE said:—"I do not think, for the reasons which have been mentioned by the Hon'ble Dr. Asutosh Mukhopadhyaya, that the amendment is necessary; nor do I understand from what has fallen from the Hon'ble Mover that the decision that was given in the case of Mohesh Chunder Ghose versus Saroda Prosad Sing has been reversed or dissented from in the latter ruling. No doubt, as pointed out by the Hon'ble Mr. Macpherson, it cannot be said that the matter is absolutely alien to the Bill as it at present stands; but seeing that the first paragraph simply deals with the difficulty or supposed difficulty arising from non-payment of the landlord's prescribed fees, that the Act expressly provides for the maintenance of section 88, and that it is not proposed to deal with any subsequent portion of the Act relating to the transfer of shares in holdings, I think that it is unnecessary and alien to the real scope and bearing of this Bill to introduce this amendment."

The Hon'ble MR. GUPTA said:—"I entirely agree with the observations which have fallen from the Hon'ble the Advocate-General and also from the Hon'ble Dr. Asutosh Mukhopadhyaya. I quite agree with them in thinking that this amendment is unnecessary and may lead to complications and unnecessary difficulties in construing other sections of the Act. I think the Hon'ble Mover of this amendment has overlooked the force of the word 'merely' which was put by the Select Committee (at least I am not sure if it was on the original draft), and also the force of section 88 of the Tenancy Act which sufficiently protects the landlord against division of the tenure or holding.

"Then there is this question, that in any case the Registrar before whom such a deed is presented for registration will be bound to register, and he will not be bound to enter into the question as to whether it is transferable by custom or not. We merely do this; where the Registrar who has registered a deed has by oversight omitted to take the registration fees, this Bill simply enacts that such omission as such will not invalidate the transfer. So since a Registrar is bound to register a deed we make provision only as to the effect of the omission to levy the prescribed fee, leaving the general provisions of the Act and the general law of the country as it stands. Whether a share is transferable or not is unaltered by this Bill. With regard to that ruling on section 18, if that ruling is not correct, it may afterwards be overruled by a Full Bench, or it may be differed from by another Bench of the High Court, but I do not think we should be justified in taking upon ourselves the responsibility of going counter to that ruling, nor does this Bill in any way affect the construction of section 18 as regards the non-payment of landlord's fee."

The Hon'ble MAULVI SERAJ-UL-ISLAM, KHAN BAHADUR, said:—"I also think that this amendment is not only unnecessary, but that it will raise some difficulty. What the Hon'ble Mover is anxious to secure is already met by section 88 of the Tenancy Act, which says that the landlord is not bound to recognise the transfer of any holding or tenure or any sub-division of any holding or tenure. Secondly, it appears to me, as several Hon'ble Members have remarked, that the scope of the Bill is limited. This Bill simply says that the non-payment of fee is not sufficient to invalidate a transfer, and if a transfer is otherwise invalid, this Bill will not make it valid. The Hon'ble Mover is labouring under one misapprehension. This Bill does not deal with occupancy holdings; it deals with holdings which are superior to occupancy holdings. It is a question, and a moot question, whether such holdings which are permanent holdings and on which rent is fixed in perpetuity are transferable by custom. Now if the amendment is accepted, instead of getting rid of the difficulty, we will complicate matters more. If we accept the amendment, it will indicate that the holding is transferable irrespective of custom. I submit that the amendment is unnecessary and that it will also create further difficulty."

The Hon'ble BABU CHATURBHOOJ SAHAY in reply said:—"I feel the weight of authority pressing against me, but after considering the importance of the subject, I think that the views I have given expression to in my first address should be made known to the Council both in the interests of landlord and tenant.

"That there might be cases where a share in a holding may be transferred by contract as suggested by my learned and hon'ble friend Dr. Asutosh Mukhopadhyaya, I quite admit. Therefore, the proper thing to do would be not to oppose my amendment on that ground, but to insert the words 'by custom or contract.' Moreover, a case of contract would be covered by section 88 of the Bengal Tenancy Act.

"Then section 88 has been quoted by several hon'ble speakers who have opposed the amendment, and who say that it gives a sufficient remedy. I am quite aware that section 88 provides that unless the consent in writing of the landlord is obtained there can be no splitting up of a tenure or holding or jama. But there are cases of transfers, legal or illegal, where notices are sent by the Collector to the landlord who is bound under the existing law to make such transferee a party along with the original registered tenants. This will add, according to my humble view, to the difficulties of the landlord in obtaining a decree for rent. The transferee in question may be a wicked person and may throw some sort of obstacle in the way of the landlord in his getting rent and so forth; and therefore I submit that the proposal I have made in the interests of both landlord and tenant should not be negatived on the grounds mentioned by the Hon'ble Members who have opposed the motion."

The Motion was then put and lost.

The Hon'ble BABU CHATURBHOOJ SAHAY also moved that the following proviso be added after the word "Act" in the second paragraph:—

"Provided also that the provisions of this section shall not prejudicially affect the rights of third persons with respect to any tenure or holding acquired bonâ fide before the validation of the transfer of such tenure or holding by the operation of this Act."

He said:—"The necessity for this amendment is that there may be cases where tenure-holders or raiyats holding at rents or rates of rents fixed in perpetuity, relying upon the decision of the High Court in the case of Babur Ali versus Krishna Kamini Debi, may have subsequently sold away or mortgaged their tenures or holdings to third persons who may have purchased the same in good faith for valuable consideration in the honest belief that the previous transfer was judicially declared invalid or would be invalid on the strength of the said decision of the High Court. In order to protect the interests of this class of innocent purchasers for value, in which expression I include mortgagees as well, I beg to move this amendment which, I trust, will meet with the approbation of the Hon'ble Members of the Council."

The Hon'ble MR. GUPTA said:—"I am obliged to oppose this amendment chiefly on the ground that it would be speculative legislation and a leap in the dark. We should not know what rights we might not upset if we accept it. I fully appreciate the object with which it is moved, namely, that bonâ fide purchasers for value should not be put to loss. To put it briefly, my position is this. The rights of these third parties whom it is intended to protect either flow from a decree, or they do not flow from a decree. If they do not flow from a decree, they are protected by the first clause. If they flow from a decree, they are protected by the first proviso. The only case which my hon'ble friend seems to contemplate is, that where believing that such transfer is invalid certain parties have made purchases, and afterwards this transfer is validated. I should very much have liked him to give us a concrete case exactly in point so that we might have met it or considered it in detail. Let us suppose such a case as he has mentioned. Suppose A has already transferred one-fourth of his share to B without paying the landlord's prescribed fee. Then after the High Court's decree A thinks that he is safe and that his transfer to B is invalid, and therefore sells the same share to C, this time after paying the landlord's fee. Then the effect of the amendment proposed by the Hon'ble Babu Chaturbhooj Sahay is that C who is a bonâ fide purchaser for value would be protected. But on the other hand the rights of B will be lost, which but for this amendment would be established. So that by this attempt to protect the rights of third parties whom we know nothing about, we may be upsetting the rights of other parties, and therefore I say we should be taking a leap in the dark and jeopardising the rights of second and may be fourth parties in trying to protect these third parties. There are instances in our law where a bonâ fide purchaser is not protected. For instance, A sells his property without registration to B, accepts value and puts B in possession. He then sells the same property to C with registration, but cannot give him possession because B continues in possession. It has been held by a Full Bench that C's right will prevail over B's. This is an instance where a bonâ fide purchaser for value is not protected by law. In a system of law some hard cases must occasionally arise.

"In the present case I feel that the grounds urged in support of the amendment are very uncertain, and in trying to legislate to protect the rights of persons about whom we do not know anything, we may be unwittingly jeopardising the rights of others."

The Hon'ble MR. WOODROFFE said:—"One or two observations occur to me. Either a transfer has had the sanction of Court, or it has not. If a transfer is deemed to be invalid merely by reason of the fee not being paid he is protected by the first clause. If on the other hand there has been a decree, then the exception to the proviso I venture to think sufficiently provides the matter. Under any circumstances it appears to me, as it appears to the Hon'ble the Legal Remembrancer, that by accepting this amendment we should be making a leap, and a very long leap, in the dark."

The Hon'ble DR. ASUTOSH MUKHOPADHYAYA said:—"The question raised by the Hon'ble Mover of the amendment is not wholly free from difficulty. After the best consideration which I have been able to give the matter, I think it ought not to be accepted, and for this reason. If accepted, it will lead to a great deal of mischievous litigation. Take the concrete case put by the Hon'ble Mr. Gupta. A is a tenant who sells his tenure to B, but the landlord's fee has not been paid. Then he comes to know of this decision of the High Court. He says: 'Although I have taken B's money, the transfer is invalid, and I may endeavour to cheat B. I will sell the property again to C.' C seeing that the property has already been sold to B, but finding that there is an informality which may invalidate the transfer, says: 'I will pay my money to A and take a transfer.' If he chooses to inquire in the Registry Office he will see that there has been a previous transfer in favour of B. By virtue of this Act the transfer in favour of B is validated. My hon'ble and learned friend says: 'C is a bonâ fide purchaser for value and ought to be protected.' I confess I have very little sympathy with C. At any rate it would be a choice between two difficulties—either B or C must lose. If C, knowing that there has been a prior transfer to B, chooses to throw away his money, he has only to thank himself.

"If you accept the amendment, what will be the effect? In every case there will be a fight between B and C. B will say C is not a bonâ fide purchaser. C will say I am a bonâ fide purchaser, and probably it will be decided that C is or is not a bonâ fide purchaser. Then the other man will bring an action against the transferor to recover his money. I think it is not necessary to have this amendment."

The Hon'ble MR. MACPHERSON said:—"The Hon'ble Member's amendment represents that portion of the recommendations of Babu Akhil Chundra Dutta which I mentioned that the Select Committee were not able to accept. I said that we were able to accept a part of those recommendations, and the remainder is what the Hon'ble Member's amendment would insert in the Bill. I had come to Council with a somewhat open mind on this matter and had hoped with the Hon'ble the Legal Remembrancer that the Hon'ble Mover would have given us a concrete case showing how his proposed amendment would work in the case of persons affected who have given valuable consideration for a transfer. In the absence of explanation of a concrete case, and not being able to foresee in what way parties may be affected if the amendment should be accepted,—because there may be completely different sets of transactions to be considered—I shall feel it incumbent on me to vote against the amendment."

The Hon'ble BABU CHATURBHOOJ SAHAY in reply said:—"I anticipated little difficulty in being able to carry this amendment, but it appears that I was wrong. I would like to make my views clear in order to meet some of the arguments urged by the gentlemen who opposed my amendment. The first remark I shall deal with is, that I have failed to give a concrete case and therefore the amendment cannot be well attended to. I submit that the business of the Legislature is to take a comprehensive view and to provide not only for present cases but also for cases that may crop up in the future. We cannot undertake to legislate for each case as it arises. We must see ahead whether a case like this is possible or not.

"The point I wish to make clear to Hon'ble Members of Council is this: when in the year 1899 the decision in the case of Babur Ali versus Krishna Kamini Debi was published, it was well known to the general public that a transfer without payment of the landlord's fee was invalid by reason of that ruling. We have undertaken to cure that defect in the year 1903. So between 1899 and the present date the general impression of the public has been that a transfer without payment of the landlord's fee is invalid.

"Take this concrete case which, though it may not have happened, is quite an intelligible case. Let us suppose that A transfers his holding to B in the year 1898. In the year 1899 the case of Babur Ali appeared. Just after that A came to know that the transfer made by him to B is invalid by reason of the fee not having been paid. He then sold to C the same property by receiving consideration for the same, the prescribed landlord's fee being paid. One of the remarks made by the Hon'ble Dr. Asutosh Mukhopadhyaya was, that this was in order to cheat B. I fail to understand the force of this remark, for the simple reason that as the transfer to B was invalid, he, i.e., A was ex hypothesi perfectly at liberty to sell his property to any one he liked. The element of cheating is absolutely absent, so far as my humble judgment leads me to see. Then C acquires the property, and in this case let us suppose he has acquired possession as well. Now in 1903 we are going to disturb his possession by passing this Act and hand the property to B. This case does not come under any decree or provision that has been pointed out by the Hon'ble the Legal Remembrancer. Of course if it had been the case of a decree, it would have been covered by the Explanation which has been attached to the first proviso. This is quite true, but the case I have put is quite independent of any case covered by the first proviso or by the Explanation. The first proviso says: 'Provided that, subject to the Explanation following, nothing in this section shall be held to affect the decision of a Court of competent jurisdiction which has become final before the commencement of this Act.' That is to say, that if a transfer has been judicially declared invalid, this Act will not be able to help that party whose transfer has been so judicially declared. But in my case that has not been invalid at all. When the first transfer fell through, the second transfer took place without any object of injuring any party, because at that time no intermediate rights were existing.

"It is said that such transactions should not be supported. As for the right of B, the first tranferee, to recover his purchase-money, both in cases of execution sales and private conveyances, I fail to understand that notwithstanding the invalidity of the transfer from 1899 to January, 1903, how he has been keeping quiet without stirring in the matter and without trying to recover his purchase-money. We are discussing the rights of third persons who must be innocent parties and bonâ fide purchasers for value. I submit, Sir, that a case like this deserves the most careful consideration of the Council Of course if the document itself be invalid on any other ground, such as want of registration, &c., this clause that I am proposing will not help at all. Of course I am taking for granted that the transfer is otherwise valid and has become invalidated only because the first transfer has now been validated by the operation of this Act."

The Motion was then put and lost.

The Hon'ble BABU CHATURBHOOJ SAHAY remarked that there was no need of pressing the following amendment standing in his name, as his point was covered by the Explanation subsequently attached to clause 1 of the Bill:—

"The benefit of the first proviso of this paragraph shall not be extended to the decision of a competent Court dismissing a suit for rent on the ground that no relationship of landlord and tenant exists by the circumstance of the landlord's fee not having been paid."

Clause 2.

The Hon'ble MR. WOODROFFE moved that clause 2 be amended by inserting the words "or may hereafter be" between the words "been" and "left." He said:—

"It was explained to the Council by the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill that this Act is intended not merely to validate matters which have passed, but also to safeguard the possibility of mistakes in the future. Now since the words 'has been' might be taken to refer simply to the past, I move that these words 'or may hereafter be' be inserted. Assuming this amendment accepted, I ask leave to make some other verbal amendments which are consequential thereon. They are:—That in the second paragraph of the same section, to strike out the words 'by which' and substitute the word 'effecting,' and delete the last two words 'was effected'; and in the fourth paragraph, to insert the words 'or may hereafter be' between the words 'been' and 'made,' in order to make this section applicable quite clearly to cases either in the past, or in the future. Although it seems to me that subsequent mistakes would in all probability be held to come within the operation of the Act, I ask permission to add these words in order to avoid all possibility of discussion."

The Hon'ble MR. MACPHERSON said:—"I accept the several amendments proposed by the Hon'ble the Advocate-General."

The Motions were put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. MACPHERSON said:—"I ask permission, under rule 22 of the Rules of Business, to bring forward an amendment which is not in the notice paper. I propose that in the penultimate line of clause 2, after the words 'the Collector shall realise such fee' the words 'if still unpaid' be inserted. The object of inserting these words is to make it clear that the Collector is not bound to realise the fee without giving an opportunity to the tenant to show that it has been paid."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. WOODROFFE said:—"If I am in order, I should like with the President's permission to move the following amendment that after the words and figures "Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885," in the Preamble of the Bill as settled in Council, the words "as regards the payment of the prescribed landlord's fee, and the effect of the non-payment of such fee" be added. He said:—

"The reason why I trouble the Council with this amendment at this stage is to make it clear, with reference to the arguments that have preceded this, that the whole scope and intention of this Act is limited to the question of the payment or non-payment of the landlord's fee. If these words that I propose to add to the first clause of the amended Preamble meet with the approbation of the Council, they will, I venture to think, remove to a considerable extent the difficulty which the Hon'ble Babu Chaturbhooj Sahay has suggested during the course of his arguments."

The Hon'ble MR. MACPHERSON said:—"I accept the amendment. The object of the Hon'ble the Advocate-General's amendment is merely to define more clearly the scope and purposes of this Act."

The Hon'ble BABU CHATURBHOOJ SAHAY said:—"I have pleasure in supporting the amendment."

The Motion was then put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. MACPHERSON moved that the Bill, as settled in Council, be passed.

The Hon'ble the PRESIDENT said:—"Under rule 44 of the Rules of Business if any amendment be moved of which due notice has not been given, it is open to any Hon'ble Member to object to the passing of the Bill at the same meeting. Does any Hon'ble Member desire to move any amendment or to raise any objection?"

No objection having been raised, the Motion that the Bill be passed was then put and agreed to.

THE BENGAL EXCISE (AMENDMENT) BILL, 1903.

The Hon'ble Mr. COLLIN moved for leave to introduce a Bill to amend the Bengal Excise Act, 1878. He said:—

"I will explain briefly the history and object of the measure. It is called a Bill to amend the Excise Act, but it is more properly an Explanatory Bill, as it merely recites provisions which are already in force under the existing law.

"Section 28 of the Excise Act empowers the Board of Revenue in general terms to regulate the form and conditions of all licenses in need for the sale of exciseable articles. This section was taken from the old Excise Act of 1856, which was passed when there was perhaps greater confidence in the Executive than at present. The tendency of modern legislation, however, has been to curtail the power of the Executive by defining in the Acts the subjects on which rules may be made, and a general empowering clause, such as that of section 28 of the Bengal Excise Act, is now seldom found. It is doubtful whether the old system or the new is the better; but, however that may be, it appears that under the general authority given by section 28, the Board has from time to time, when issuing licenses, imposed without objection such conditions as appeared necessary to secure the orderly management of licensed houses, and to carry out the policy of Government for the restriction of the consumption of liquors. They have imposed conditions that liquor shall be obtained from certain sources and be sold at certain places. Licensed vendors are required to set up signboards over their shops and to keep accounts of their sales. They are forbidden to sell except at certain hours, and they are not allowed to sell at all to certain classes, as, for instance, European soldiers They cannot transfer their licenses or sublet their shops.

"These conditions have, as already explained, been imposed under the general provisions of section 28 of the Excise Act, and the authority to do so would probably never have been questioned had it not been found expedient two years ago to interfere with the practice of employing females for the sale of liquor which had then become unduly prevalent in Calcutta. It is not necessary to enter into the details of the controversy which arose on this subject. It is sufficient to say that it was found that there were over 30 women employed in the bars of Calcutta licensed houses, and that the object of their employment was to attract customers and to stimulate the consumption of liquor. The policy of Government is, however, to restrict the consumption of liquor to the lowest point compatible with the supply of legitimate demands, and it was in pursuance of this policy necessary to take action to stop these irregular methods of stimulating consumption and encouraging people to drink, and to do so at once before the evil had become established. These were the reasons, from an Excise point of view, which led to the exclusion of women from the bars of Calcutta.

"There were other objections on administrative grounds to the employment of women in such duties which will occur to every Member of this Council, and it is not necessary now to state them. When the orders were passed, it was suggested that they were not covered by the provisions of the Excise Act. Government, however, did not derive its authority solely from that Act. The Calcutta Police Act of 1866 gives special powers in respect of the licensed houses of the town, and under section 37 of that Act it is open to the Government to fix conditions when issuing licenses for the regulation of such houses and for the prevention of drunkenness and disorder in places of public entertainment. This section, therefore, was a sufficient authority for Government to forbid the employment of women, whose services admittedly increased the consumption of liquor, and thus tended to lead to drunkenness and disorder.

"It is, however, inconvenient to take action in such a matter under the Police Act, and it has, therefore, been thought advisable to add a provision to the Excise Act so as to remove all uncertainties and to show clearly what conditions may be attached to Excise licenses. The clause which it is proposed to add to the Act recites all the subjects on which conditions have been enforced, and which have hitherto been accepted without demur by licensed vendors. The exclusion of women met at first with some opposition from licensed vendors, who complained that their profits would be reduced, but effect has been given to the orders during the last year.

"In section 3 of the Bill a small addition is made to section 67 of the Act, in order to prevent licensed shops from being used as a meeting place for persons of notoriously bad character. This provision has for years been inserted as one of the conditions of a license, and no objection has been made to it. It is obviously a proper condition, and it is thought desirable to embody it definitely in the Act. I ask, Sir, for permission to introduce the Bill which is in the hands of the Hon'ble Members."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. COLLIN also applied to the President to suspend the Rules of Business for the purpose of introducing the Bill and referring it to a Select Committee.

The Hon'ble the PRESIDENT having declared the Rules suspended, the Hon'ble Mr. Collin introduced the Bill and moved that it be read in Council.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Bill was read accordingly.

The Hon'ble MR. COLLIN also moved that the Bill be referred to a Select Committee consisting of the Hon'ble Mr. Buckland, the Hon'ble Mr. Gupta, the Hon'ble Mr. Woodroffe, the Hon'ble Dr. Asutosh Mukhopadhyaya, the Hon'ble Mr. Elworthy, the Hon'ble Maulvi Seraj-ul-Islam, Khan Bahadur, and the Mover, with instructions to report on the 16th February next.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Council adjourned to Tuesday, the 24th February, 1903.

Section 25 having been repealed by the Pleaders, Mukhtars and Revenue Agents Act, 1865 (XX of 1865), the word "such" in section 26 has become meaningless. The amendment restores some of the words used in section 25.

1827	III	The Bengal Corruption and Extortion Regulation, 1827.	In section 5, for a Court of Circuit or the Nizamat Adalat substitute the Court.	There is now no "Court of Circuit' or "Nizamat Adalat."
"	V	The Bengal Attached Estates Management Regulation, 1827.	In section 3, for several Regulations substitute Regulation.	Section 2 was partially repealed by the Repealing Act, 1874 (XVI of 1874), and a further partial repeal is proposed in Schedule III to the present Bill. If the latter repeal be effected, section 2 will refer only to one Regulation, namely, Ben. Reg. V of 1799. Hence the proposed amendment in section 3.
1828	III	Land-revenu - Assessment (Resumed Lands).	In section 10, clauses Second and Third, for Boards substitute the Board.	There is now only one Board of Revenue in Bengal.
			In section 13, clause First, the words Governor General in Council and the word he shall be read as if the words Local Government and the word it were respectively substituted therefor.	See paragraph 3 of the Statemen of Objects and Reasons.
	IV	Land-revenue Settlement.	In section 2, clause Fourth, for aforesaid substitute vested with the powers of a Collector.	The word "aforesaid" became meaningless on the repeal of clause Third of section 2 by Ben. Reg. IX of 1833, section 4. The proposed amendment reproduces the words of that clause to which the word "aforesaid" referred.
1833	IX	Land-revenue (Settlement and Deputy Collectors).	In the title, for Regulations substitute Regulation, and in section 1, for those Regulations substitute that Regulation.	These amendments follow upon the proposal to repeal part of the title and section 1 of this Regulation (see Schedule III, post).
			In sections 12 and 13, for Boards substitute Board	There is now only one Board of Revenue in Bengal.
			In section 16, the words Governor General in Council shall be read as if the words Local Government were substituted therefor.	See paragraph 3 of the Statement of Objects and Reasons.

		Part II.—Acts of the Governor General in Council*—contd.
1 9	XI	Land-revenue Sales.—contd	In section 32, for section 25 substitute section 2 of the Bengal Land-revenue Sales Act, 1868.	Section 25 of Act XI of 1859 was repealed by section 29 of Ben. Act VII of 1868 and re-enacted (with amendments) in section 2 of the latter Act.
			In section 33, for section 25 of this Act substitute section 2 of the Bengal Land-revenue Sales Act, 1868.	The title mentioned in column 4 opposite, is that which it is proposed in Schedule I to give to Ben. Act VII of 1868.
	XII	Calcutta Pilots . .	In sections 2 and 18, for the words Superintendent of Marine, wherever they occur, substitute Port Officer.	There is now no "Superintendent of Marine". [Rule 1 of the Rules made under section 20 of the Act ought to be similarly amended.]
1861	V	The Police Act, 1861 .	In section 34, after imprisonment insert with or without hard labour.	The "imprisonment" referred to in this section is simple imprisonment, but in most cases rigorous imprisonment would be more suitable to the offence and to the offender, and this amendment will admit of rigorous imprisonment being awarded in such cases.
1867	III	The Public Gambling Act, 1867.	In the title, for the Central Provinces and British Burma substitute and the Central Provinces.	Act III of 1867 has ceased to be operative in Burma—see the Burma Gambling Act, 1899 (Burma Act I of 1899), section 2.
			In the preamble, for of the Chief Commissioner of the Central Provinces and of the Chief Commissioner of British Burma, substitute and of the Chief Commissioner of the Central Provinces.
			In section 1, for the definition of Lieutenant-Governor and Chief Commissioner substitute the following, namely :— "Lieutenant-Governor" means the Lieutenant-Governor of the United Provinces of Agra and Oudh or of the Punjab, as the case may be. "Chief Commissioner" means the Chief Commissioner of the Central Provinces or of the North-West Frontier Province, as the case may be.	This amendment is consequential upon (1) the repeal of Act III of 1867 in Burma, (2) the recent change in the designation of the Lieutenant-Governor of the United Provinces, and (3) the separation of the North-West Frontier Province from the Punjab.
1872	XV	The Indian Christian Marriage Act, 1872.	In section 82, for certificates of marriages, and also for marriage certificates, substitute certificates for marriage.	The language of the section is misleading, and the proposed amendments follow that of sections 71 and 72.
			In Schedule II, after declaration insert or oath.	This amendment will bring the Schedule into harmony with section 41.
1878	XII	Laws, Punjab (amending Act IV of 1872).	In section 2, for 18 substitute 16.	Sections 17 and 18 of the Punjab Laws Act, 1872 (IV of 1872), have been repealed by the Punjab Laws Act Amendment Act, 1895 (VII of 1895), section 3.

1878	XIV	The Hackney Carriage Act, 1879	In section 3, for The Lieutenant-Governors of the North-Western Provinces and the Punjab and the Chief Commissioners of Oudh, the Central Provinces, British Burma, substitute The Lieutenant-Governors of the United Provinces of Agra and Oudh, the Punjab and Burma, and the Chief Commissioner of the Central Provinces	Consequential upon recent changes in designations in the United Provinces and Burma.
"	XVIII	The Legal Practitioners Act, 1879.	In section 42 (added by the Legal Practitioners Act, 1884, section 9), before the words and figures Act I of 1846 insert So much of Chapter VI of Bombay Regulation II of 1827 as has not been repealed.	This amendment will enable the Government of Bombay to repeal Bombay Regulation II of 1827, Chapter VI, if and when it extends the Legal Practitioners Act, 1879, or any portion thereof to the Bombay Presidency.
1881	XIII	The Fort William Act, 1881	In section 1, for Army Discipline and Regulation Act, 1879, substitute Army Act.	The Act of 1879 has been repealed and re-enacted by the Army Act (44 & 45 Vict., c. 58).
			In section 5 for Presidency Magistrates Act, 1877, substitute Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898; and for the High Courts Criminal Procedure Act, 1875, section 147, substitute section 526 of that Code. In section 7, for Magistrates appointed under the Presidency Magistrates Act, 1877, substitute Presidency Magistrates.	The Presidency Magistrates Act, 1877 (IV of 1877), was repealed by the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1882 (Act X of 1882), and the new Code of Criminal Procedure (Act V of 1898) does not carry on these references to the Act of 1877. The High Courts Criminal Procedure Act, 1875 (X of 1875), was repealed by the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, and the opportunity is here taken to substitute for the reference to section 147 of the Act of 1875 a reference to the corresponding section (526) of the new Code.
1889	V	The Coroners (Madras) Act, 1889.	In the preamble and in section 4, sub-section (2), as amended by the Repealing and Amending Act, 1891, for the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1882, substitute the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898.	The Code of Criminal Procedure 1882 (X of 1882), has been repealed and re-enacted by the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898 (V of 1898).
"	XIII	The Cantonments Act, 1889.	In section 6, sub-section (1), for in the case of a cantonment for which such a committee has not been constituted, substitute where a cantonment committee has not been constituted, or has in pursuance of an order of the Local Government ceased to exist, or for any reason cannot be convened, then, subject to any rules made under section 26, clause (5).	This will bring section 6 (1) into harmony with section 26 (5). The difference between the language of the two has given rise to inconvenient doubts in practice.
1897	X	The General Clauses Act, 1897.	In section 3, clauses (5), (6), (30) and (35), after under insert the Indian Councils Act, 1861, or.	This is to cover Acts of local legislatures passed under the Statute of 1861 before the Statute of 1892 was enacted by Parliament.

Year.	No.	Subject or short title.	Amendments.	REMARKS.
		Part II.—Acts of the Governor General in Council—contd.
1897	X	The General Clauses Act, 1897—contd	In section 3, after clause (8), insert the following:— (8*a*) "Burma Act" shall mean an Act made by the Lieutenant-Governor of Burma in Council under the Indian Councils Acts, 1861 and 1892:.	A local legislature was established in Burma in 1897, but after the passing of the General Clauses Act, 1897.
			In section 3, after clause (44), insert the following:— (44*a*) "Punjab Act" shall mean an Act made by the Lieutenant-Governor of the Punjab in Council under the Indian Councils Acts, 1861 and 1892:.	A local legislature was established in the Punjab in 1897, but after the passing of the General Clauses Act, 1897.
			In section 3, after clause (55), insert the following:— (55*a*) "United Provinces Act" shall mean an Act made by the Lieutenant-Governor of the North-Western Provinces and Oudh (or of the United Provinces of Agra and Oudh) in Council under the Indian Councils Act, 1861, or the Indian Councils Acts, 1861 and 1892:.	Consequential upon the recent change in designation in the United Provinces.
			In section 20, before the word order, in each of the places in which it occurs, insert notification.	This is to make it clear that notifications are "orders" within the meaning of the section.
			In section 21, for make substitute issue notifications, between the words any and orders insert notifications, and for made substitute issued.	Ditto.
			In section 24, before the word order, in each of the places in which it occurs, insert appointment, notification; and before the word issued, in each of the places in which it occurs, insert made or.	This is to obviate any doubt as to whether the provision covers appointments made and notifications issued under a provision repealed and re-enacted. Cf. section 25 of the Bengal General Clauses Act, 1899 (Ben. Act I of 1899), and the amendments thereof proposed post.
1898	V	The Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898.	In section 260, sub-section (i), clause (i), after 451 insert 453, 454.	Offences punishable under sections 451, 456 and 457 of the Indian Penal Code (Act XLV of 1860), were included in the list of offences triable summarily when the Code was last revised. It is anomalous that the cognate, though less grave, offences under sections 453 and 454 should not also be so triable.
			In section 555 for 553 substitute 554.	Clerical error corrected.

Year.	No.	Subject or short title.	Amendments.	REMARKS.
		Part II.—Acts of the Governor General in Council—concld
1898	V	The Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898—contd.	In the second schedule column 5, against section 195 for Bailable substitute Not bailable.	Offences punishable under section 195 of the Indian Penal Code (Act XLV of 1860) were non-bailable under the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1882 (Act X of 1882). They appear to have been inadvertently made bailable in the present Code, and it is proposed to correct the slip.
			In the second schedule, column 8, against section 506, for Ditto substitute Presidency Magistrate or Magistrate of the first or second class.	In the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1882 (Act X of 1882), offences punishable under section 505 of the Indian Penal Code (Act XLV of 1860) were triable by Magistrates of the first or second class, and the first entry in the schedule opposite section 506 followed on the same lines The terms of the new section 505 of the Indian Penal Code substituted by Act IV of 1898, section 6, were such as to render it expedient to restrict to first class Magistrates the trial of offences thereunder But it was never intended to extend the restriction to the less serious offences under section 506, and it is proposed to correct the slip.
			In the heading to the fifth schedul , for 554 substitute 555.	Clerical error corrected.
			In the fifth schedule, Form IV, for within days from this date substitute on the day of .	This is to rectify a discrepancy between the provisions of section 87 of the Code and the language used in the form prescribed under that section.
			In the fifth schedule, Forms XIII and XIV, for the passage from comply where it occurs for the second time to released, substitute be lawfully ordered to be released	These forms were reproduced from the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1882 (Act X of 1882), but the fact that section 123, sub-section (4), had been amended was apparently overlooked. It is proposed to remove the discrepancy between the section and the forms.
1900	III	The Prisoners Act, 1900.	For section 29 substitute the following :—	The existing provisions of section 31 necessitate a reference to the Government of India in each case of transfer from one Province to another. This is in practice most inconvenient, nor is it necessary. It is proposed to repeal section 31—see Schedule III, post—and to substitute here a more elastic provision.
			Removal of prisoners. 29.(1) The Governor General in Council may, by general or special order, provide for the removal of any prisoner confined in a prison— (a) under sentence of death, or (b) under, or in lieu of, a sentence of imprisonment or transportation, or (c) in default of payment of a fine, or (d) in default of giving security for keeping the peace or for maintaining good behaviour, to any other prison in British India. (2) The Local Government, and (subject to its orders and under its control) the Inspector-General of Prisons may, in like manner, provide for the removal of any prisoner confined as aforesaid in a prison in the Province to any other prison in the Province.

Year.	No.	Subject or short title.	Amendments.	REMARKS.
		Part III.—Bengal Acts.
1862	VI	Rent	In section 14, for the said Act substitute Act X of 1859,	Follows on the repeal of the first part of section 14 suggested in Schedule III, post.
			and for section VII of Act I of 1846 substitute section 27 of the Legal Practitioners' Act, 1879.	Act I of 1846 has been repealed in Bengal by the Legal Practitioners' Act, 1879 (XVIII of 1879), section 42 [added by the Legal Practitioners' Act, 1884 (IX of 1884), section 9] It seems doubtful whether the last paragraph of section 2 of Act XVIII of 1879 governs the subsequently added section 42, and it is proposed to make this amendment in order to remove the doubt.
1865	VII	Slaughter-houses and Meat-markets.	In section 1, for the jurisdiction of the Municipal Commissioners of the Suburbs of the Town of Calcutta appointed under the provisions of Act III of 1864 passed by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in Council (the District Municipal Improvement Act), substitute any limits to which this section has heretofore been, or may hereafter be, extended by notification under section 9.	Ben. Act VII of 1865 was repealed in the Suburbs of Calcutta by the Calcutta Municipal Consolidation Act, 1876 (Ben. Act IV of 1876), and is now applicable only to "towns and places" to which it has been, or may hereafter be, extended by notification under section 9. The word "limits" is used in the proposed amendment because it is used in sections 1, 3 and 4 of the Act of 1865.
1866	IV	The Calcutta Police Act, 1866.	In section 25, for such officer substitute officer of the Police Force.	Necessitated by the repeal of section 24 of Ben. Act IV of 1866 by the Presidency Magistrates Act, 1877 (IV of 1877).
			In section 33, for the Articles of War for Her Majesty's Army or Her Majesty's Navy or for the native officers or soldiers in Her Majesty's Indian Army, substitute the Naval Discipline Act, the Army Act or the Indian Articles of War.	These several Articles of War are now contained in the Naval Discipline Act (29 & 30 Vict., c. 109), the Army Act (44 & 45 Vict. c. 58), and the Indian Articles of War (Act V of 1869), respectively.
			In section 95, for the words this Act, in the second place in which they occur, substitute sections 64 and 67 to 70 of the Indian Penal Code and sections 386, 387 and 389 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898.	Necessitated by the repeal of section 93 of Ben. Act IV of 1866 by the Presidency Magistrates Act, 1877 (IV of 1877).
1867	IV	Rent (Appeals) . .	In section 5, for the said recited Acts substitute the Bengal Rent Act, 1859, or the Bengal Rent Act, 1862.	This amendment follows on the repeal proposed in Schedule III, post, of the earlier parts of Ben. Act IV of 1867. The titles mentioned in column 4, opposite, are those which it is proposed (in Schedule I, ante) to give to Act X of 1859 and Ben. Act VI of 1862, respectively.
1869	I	Cruelty to Animals .	In section 9, for the said Act II of 1866 substitute Ben. Act II of 1866.	Section 8, in which Ben. Act II of 1866 was mentioned, was repealed by the Repealing Act, 1873 (XII of 1873).

		Part III.—Bengal Acts—contd.
1876	III	The Bengal Irrigation Act, 1876.	In section 95, for as a demand under section 1 of the aforesaid Ben. Act VII of 1868 substitute under the procedure provided by the Public Demands Recovery Act, 1895, for the recovery of public demands.	The portion of section 1 of Ben. Act VII of 1868 to which this clause refers was repealed by the Public Demands Recovery Act, 1880 (Ben. Act VII of 1880), and the reference is not carried on by the Public Demands Recovery Act, 1895 (Ben. Act I of 1895).
1880	IX	The Cess Act, 1880 .	In section 29, Example B, for rate substitute ratio.	Clerical error corrected.
1884	II	Amendment of the Calcutta Tramways Act, 1880.	In the preamble, for the words and figures situate within the local limits of the town as defined in the Calcutta Municipal Consolidation Act, 1876, substitute subject to the authority of the Corporation of Calcutta. In section 3, for the words and figures in Calcutta but situate beyond the local limits of the town as defined in the Calcutta Municipal Consolidation Act, 1876, substitute in those portions of Calcutta, as defined in the Calcutta Municipal Act, 1899, which are not subject to the authority of the Corporation of Calcutta, and for the words and figures within the local limits of the town as defined by the Calcutta Municipal Consolidation Act, 1876, substitute within the area subject to their authority. In section 4, for the words and figures outside the limits of the town as defined by the Calcutta Municipal Consolidation Act, 1876, substitute outside the area subject to their authority.	When Ben. Act II of 1884 was passed, the Corporation of Calcutta had authority only within the town proper, and not within the suburbs of Calcutta (see Ben. Act IV of 1876). By Ben. Act II of 1888 (which repealed and re-enacted Ben. Act IV of 1876) the authority of the Corporation was extended to the suburbs. The Corporation exercise over the Tramway lines in the suburbs the jurisdiction conferred upon them by the Calcutta Tramways Act, 1880 (Ben. Act I of 1880); and they may be considered to be justified in doing so by the facts— (1) that the Act of 1888 extended the general authority of the Corporation to the suburbs, (2) that the Act of 1888 directed that references to the Act of 1876 should be deemed to be made to the later Act, and (3) that the word used in section 2 of Ben. Act II of 1884 is "includes", not "means". But it is considered desirable to make the point clear by amending the Act of 1884 in the manner indicated in column 4, and by repealing section 2 (see Schedule III. post). The Act of 1899, referred to in column 4, is the present Calcutta Municipal Act, which repealed and re-enacted the Act of 1888. The proposed amendments will leave to the Local Government the powers which alone it is necessary to reserve to it, namely, powers of control over such parts of the Tramway as lie on the Calcutta Maidan.
1885	III	The Bengal Local Self Government Act of 1885.	In section 45, for such district substitute any district in which this Act is in force. In the reference to section 9 of Bengal Act IX of 1880 in the second Schedule for 111, substitute 109.	The word "such", as used in the section, is meaningless. The amendment made by Ben. Act II of 1881, section 1, seems to have been overlooked when the Schedule was drawn.

1887	IV	The Chittagong Port Commissioners Act, 1887.	In section 39, clause (b), for 32 substitute 34.	The reference should obviously be to section 34, not to section 32, which does not mention liens.
1890	II	Vaccination (amending Bengal Act V of 1880).	In sections 2 and 3, after Suburbs insert of Calcutta.	The omission of these words was an oversight– cf. the preamble and section 1 of the Bengal Vaccination Act, 1880 (Ben. Act V of 1880), as amended by sections 2 and 3 of Ben. Act II of 1890.
"	III	The Calcutta Port Act, 1890.	In section 30, for the three next succeeding sections, and in section 34 for any of the three last preceding sections, substitute section 31 section 32 or section 33. 			Act XIV of 1866 (Post Office);	This Act is repealed by the Indian Post Office Act, 1898 (VI of 1898), which has been declared (see Calcutta Gazette, 1901, Pt. I, p. 1534) to be in force in Angul.
			Act I of 1868 (General Clauses);	This Act is repealed by the General Clauses Act, 1897 (X of 1897), which has been declared (see Calcutta Gazette, 1899, Pt. I, p. 1064) to be in force in Angul.
			Act XV of 1869 (Prisoners Testimony);	This Act is repealed by the Prisoners' Act, 1900 (III of 1900), which has been declared (see Calcutta Gazette, 1901, Pt. I, p. 885) to be in force in Angul.

[Act I of 1891, which amends Act I of 1871, is in force in Angul by virtue of section 3 (1) of Reg. I of 1894].
			Act I of 1887 (General Clauses);	This Act is repealed by the General Clauses Act, 1897 (X of 1897), which has been declared (see Calcutta Gazette, 1899, Pt. I, p. 1064) to be in force in Angul.

THE THIRD SCHEDULE—concld.

1	2	3	4	5
Year.	No.	Subject or short title.	Extent of repeal.	REMARKS.
		Part VII.—Regulations made under the Government of India Act, 1870 (33 & 34 Vict., c. 3)—concld.
	I	The Angul District Regulation, 1894—contd	So much of section 3, sub-section (1), and the schedule as relates to the following Acts, namely:—
			Act XII of 1890 (Tariff);	It is unnecessary to retain this Act in this schedule. It merely amended the Indian Tariff Act, 1882 (XI of 1882), which is not itself included in the Schedule. The Act of 1882 has since been repealed by the Indian Tariff Act, 1894 (VIII of 1894), and the Act of 1890 has also been repealed (except in Angul) by the same Act.
			Bengal Act II of 1864 (Jails); and	This Act is repealed by the Prisons Act, 1894 (IX of 1894), which has been declared (see Calcutta Gazette, 1901, Pt. I, p. 1534) to be in force in Angul.
			Bengal Act V of 1867 (General Clauses)	This Act is repealed by the Bengal General Clauses Act, 1899 (Ben. Act I of 1899), which has been declared (see Calcutta Gazette, 1899, Pt. I, p. 1064) to be in force in Angul.
			In section 3, sub-section (2), the words or to have been, the words shall have been expressly extended thereto or, and the word so.	It has been ascertained that all enactments in force in the Angul District, which were expressly extended thereto before the commencement of Regulation I of 1894, have either been (1) superseded there by later enactments, or (2) included in the schedule annexed to that Regulation. The words proposed for repeal have therefore become obsolete, and their retention would be likely to raise doubts, which the Regulation was intended to avoid, as to what enactments are in force in Angul.
			Section 3, sub-section (2), proviso.	Validation clause. Spent.
			In column 1 of Part II of the schedule, in the entry relating to Act X of 1873 (Oaths), the words and figures (except the first sentence of section 16).	The insertion of these words and figures seems to have been an oversight, since section 16 of the Indian Oaths Act, 1873 (X of 1873), contains only one sentence.
1899	III	The Sonthál Parganas Justice and Laws Regulation, 1899.	In section 1, the word and and sub-section (2).	Commencement clause. Spent.
1900	I	The Chittagong Hill-tracts Regulation, 1900	Section 20 . . .	Repealing clause. Spent.
,,	III	The Sonthál Parganas Rural Police Regulation, 1900.	In section 1, the words and figure and (3) It shall come into force at once.	Commencement clause. Spent.
1901	VII	The North-West Frontier Province Law and Justice Regulation, 1901.	So much of Part I of the first Schedule as relates to section 31 of the Prisoners Act, 1900	The amendment of Act III of 1900 proposed in Schedule II, ante, will render this provision in the Regulation unnecessary.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THIS Bill has been prepared in order to lighten the Statute-book and pave the way for the publication of a new edition of the Bengal Code, i.e., the compilation of local enactments in force in the Province of Bengal which is published under the orders of the Government of India.

2. Except as regards the matter mentioned hereafter in paragraphs 3 and 4, the repeals and amendments proposed are purely formal and involve nothing of substance. Each of them is explained by the remark concerning it inserted in the fifth column of the appropriate schedule—a column which will, of course, be removed before the Bill is passed. In some cases enactments in force in Provinces other than Bengal are dealt with in the schedules, and in others Acts of universal application are affected; but in general the Bill is confined to the enactments to be included in the new edition of the Bengal Code. The opportunity has, in accordance with the later practice, been taken to give short titles to many enactments which have not so far been provided therewith.

3. The enactments passed before a Lieutenant-Governor was appointed for Bengal vested supreme executive powers in the Governor General in Council. It is considered that these powers might now, in many cases, be formally transferred to the Local Government or the Board of Revenue, and it is proposed to make this change by the present Bill. All cases in which the change is proposed are distinguished by the words "See paragraph 3 of the Statement of Objects and Reasons" inserted in column 5 of Schedules II and III.

4. The opportunity afforded by the present Bill has been taken to make three substantive amendments, namely, those appearing in Schedule II opposite the Police Act, 1861 (V of 1861), the Cantonments Act, 1889 (XIII of 1889), and the Prisoners Act, 1900 (III of 1900).

T. RALEIGH.

The 19th February, 1903.

J. M. MACPHERSON,
Secretary to the Government of India.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Bill was introduced in the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 20th February, 1903 :—

NO. 5 OF 1903.

A Bill further to amend the Indian Paper Currency Act, 1882.

XX of 1882. Whereas it is expedient further to amend the Indian Paper Currency Act, 1882, in manner hereinafter appearing; It is hereby enacted as follows :—

Short title. 1. This Act may be called the Indian Paper Currency (Amendment) Act, 1903.

Amendment of Act XX of 1882, sections 16 and 17 2. For sections 16 and 17 of the Indian Paper Currency Act, 1882, the following shall be substituted, namely :—

Notes where legal tender. "16. A currency note for five rupees, issued from any town not situate in Burma, shall be a legal tender at any place in British India except Burma, a currency note for five rupees, issued from any town in Burma, shall be a legal tender at any place in Burma, and a currency note for any amount exceeding five rupees shall be a legal tender at any place within the Circle from which the note was issued, for the amount expressed in the note, in payment or on account of—

(a) any revenue or other claim, to the amount of five rupees and upwards, due to the Government of India, and

(b) any sum of five rupees and upwards, due by the Government of India or by any body corporate or person in British India:

Provided that no currency note shall be deemed to be a legal tender by the Government of India at any office of issue.

Notes where payable. "17. (1) A currency note for five rupees, issued from any town not situate in Burma, shall be payable at any office of issue not situate in Burma.

(2) A currency note for five rupees, issued from any town in Burma, shall be payable only at an office of issue in such town.

(3) A currency note for any amount exceeding five rupees shall be payable only at an office of issue in the town from which it was issued :

Provided that any such currency note which was issued before the commencement of the Indian Paper Currency (Amendment) Act, 1903, from any town not situate in Burma, shall also be payable at the Presidency town of the Presidency within which such town is situate."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The object of this Bill is to amend sections 16 and 17 of the Indian Paper Currency Act, 1882, so as (1) to declare five-rupee notes, issued from any town outside Burma, to be legal tender throughout British India except Burma, (2) to authorize the encashment of such notes at any office of issue in British India except Burma, and (3) to withdraw, in respect of sub-circle notes of any value exceeding five rupees, issued after the Bill is passed, the permission given by clause (b) of section 17 of the Act to require the encashment of such notes at a Presidency-town.

2. The first two amendments are designed to facilitate an increase in the circulation of five-rupee notes, so as to admit of a larger portion of the currency Reserve being held in gold or invested securities and to lessen the expense and inconvenience of transfers of coin from one Treasury to another.

3. The object of the third amendment is to do away with the obligation imposed on the Government by the present law of providing cash for payment of future sub-circle currency notes exceeding five rupees at the Presidency-towns as well as in the sub-circles. This obligation makes it necessary to lock up a considerable portion of the Government balances which would otherwise be available for the general encashment of notes, and it is inexpedient that it should be maintained. A clause is inserted in the Bill to preserve the obligation intact in the case of notes issued before the passing of the Bill.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Bill was introduced in the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 20th February, 1903 :—

NO. 6 OF 1903.

A Bill to amend the Indian Post Office Act, 1898.

VI of 1898. WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the Indian Post Office Act, 1898; It is hereby enacted as follows :—

1. This Act may be called the Indian Post Office (Amendment) Act, 1903. Short title.

2. At the end of clause (b) of section 2 of the Indian Post Office Act, 1898, the following shall be added, namely :— Addition to Act VI of 1898, section 2, clause (b).

"Provided that the expression 'inland' shall not apply to any class of postal articles which may be specified in this behalf by the Governor General in Council by notification in the Gazette of India, when posted in or at or addressed to any places or post offices which may be described in such notification."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

ALL classes of postal articles exchanged between post offices in British India and Indian post offices established in Persia and Turkish Arabia are subject, under the Indian Post Office Act, 1898 (VI of 1898), to inland rules and rates of postage. It has, however, been decided that the Union rules and rates of postage should be made applicable to articles of private correspondence exchanged between British Indian post offices and Indian post offices in Persia and Turkish Arabia, or between Indian post offices in those countries; and the object of this Bill is to enact a clause which will enable the Governor General in Council to give effect to this decision by notification in the Gazette of India.

A letter of the Director of Public Instruction, No. 5859, dated the 31st July 1902.

IN December 1899, a non-official Conference of Muhammadan gentlemen was held in Calcutta for the purpose of discussing educational questions, at which the Hon'ble Mr. Justice Amir Ali presided. It was stated at the Conference that improvements could be made in the working of Madrassas in Bengal generally, and in particular in that of the Calcutta Madrassa.

2. The late Sir John Woodburn, then Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, who was present at one of the sittings, suggested that definite proposals for the improvement of the Calcutta Madrassa should be made by the Conference; and in response to this suggestion, the Committee of the Conference submitted, in December 1901, a representation setting forth, for the consideration of Government, certain proposals for its improvement.

3. This representation was referred to the Director of Public Instruction for an expression of his opinion, and he was desired to submit a report, after consulting the leading Muhammadan Associations in Calcutta. His attention was particularly invited to the bifurcation scheme, which, it was suggested, should be introduced into the Arabic Department, and his opinion was asked concerning the value which should, from an educational point of view, be assigned to the proposed A, or Anglo-Oriental, Course, as compared with the Entrance, or First Arts, Course of the Calcutta University.

4. The Director consulted the Principal of the Calcutta Madrassa and the Muhammadan Literary Society of Calcutta, and submitted a report to Government in his letter No. 5859, dated the 31st July 1902. In the introductory paragraphs of that communication the Director stated that he did not consider it desirable to defer the submission of his report for the further period which would be involved if he were to ascertain the views of other Muhammadan Associations.

5. The recommendations made in the representation submitted by the Committee of the Conference, which are set forth in the succeeding paragraphs of this Resolution, refer both to the Anglo-Persian Department and to the Arabic Department of the Madrassa. The Anglo-Persian Department prepares students for the Entrance Examination of the Calcutta University and conforms to the standards of high and zilla schools, while the Arabic Department teaches a course mainly Oriental and prepares candidates for the central examination of students from Bengal Madrassas which is held by the Education Department.

6. The Committee had in their representation remarked that at one of the sittings of the Conference a resolution was unanimously adopted condemning the present system of education in vogue in the Bengal Madrassas. The Director states that the correctness of this assertion is challenged by the Muhammadan Literary Society, the representatives of which maintain that the resolution in question was not adopted unanimously, but was only carried under strong protest. It also appears from Mr. Pedler's report that the system of education in the Bengal Madrassas had engaged the attention of the Muhammadan Literary Society before he had consulted them on the subject, and that it is in their opinion thoroughly adapted to present requirements. A copy of the proceedings of a meeting of the Committee of the Society, held on the 9th June 1900, has been before Government, and the opinions given at pages 32-63 thereof show that the views of the Society in this respect have the support and concurrence of many Muhammadan gentlemen throughout India whose education and position give considerable weight to their opinion. It is not, however, implied that any diversity of views between different sections of the Muhammadan community would detract from the value of the proposals which have now been submitted to Government.

7. The first suggestion made regarding the Anglo-Persian Department is that moral instruction should be included in the regular course of studies, and that simple books on Islamic ethics, inculcating lessons of moral responsibility, should be placed in the hands of the students. The Director remarks that, in its wider aspects, this question is closely bound up with that of imparting moral and religious instruction in State, or State-aided, schools. Ethical teaching has, however, by no means been neglected in the Madrassa. For the last eight or nine years there have been voluntary classes in the institution for the instruction of students in the principles and ethics of Islam, and teachers have given their services gratuitously to them. It is reported, however, that these classes are not popular, and that at the time of the submission of the Director's report they did not contain more than twenty students.

8. The second suggestion is that more time should be devoted to the study of Persian without, however, handicapping students preparing for University examinations. It is remarked that a knowledge of Persian is absolutely necessary for a Muhammadan gentleman as a social acquirement. As regards this suggestion, Mr. Pedler fears that any additional hours devoted to the study of Persian must be taken from the time which is now allotted for the study of subjects like English, Mathematics, &c., which have to be studied for the Entrance examination. He has, however, no objection to urge against the proposal, if the Principal can re-arrange the present routine of studies so as to provide for the teaching of a higher course in Persian, without neglecting other subjects. Government accepts the Director's opinion that the main end to be kept in view in training students of the Anglo-Persian Department is that they should be prepared for the Entrance Examination, and would leave Dr. Ross a free hand in the matter of arranging the routine consistently with the best interests of the students.

9. The third suggestion relates to the opening of F. A. classes in the Madrassa. Under present arrangements students of the College Department of the Madrassa have to attend the Presidency College. In the opinion of the Committee this entails a great waste of time and energy, inasmuch as the Presidency College is situated at some distance from the Muhammadan quarters of the town and from the Elliott Madrassa Hostel. They are further of opinion that Muhammadan students are out of their element in the Presidency College, and that, owing to the large number of students attending that institution, individual requirements cannot be attended to. The proposal made by the Committee is supported by the Muhammadan Literary Society. The latter, however, make two important reservations, (i) that the teaching in the Madrassa F. A. classes should be as good and efficient as in other colleges, (ii) that attendance at the classes should not be made compulsory, and that the privilege now enjoyed by the students of paying reduced fees in other colleges should not be interfered with.

The Director is of opinion that it would be difficult, if not practically impossible, to secure the first of these conditions. He also attaches considerable importance to the circumstance that Muhammadan students attending lectures in the Presidency College have opportunities of mixing with Hindu students. He writes:—

"I am very strongly opposed to the re-opening of F.A. classes in the Madrassa. The teaching in second grade colleges, that is, colleges which teach only up to the F.A. Standard always partakes of the character of the training imparted in schools, and I know of no instance in which a college of this kind gives what may be called collegiate teaching. It will be too much to expect that F.A. classes opened in the Madrassa will be an exception to the general rule. The classes will certainly necessitate considerable expense, and the teaching in them will by no means be nearly as efficient as the teaching now imparted in the Presidency College.

"I am besides of opinion that Muhammadan students may mix with great advantage with Hindu students, and that constitutes another ground for the continuance of the present system under which college students of the Madrassa have to attend lectures at the Presidency College."

The Principal of the Madrassa who was, at first, in favour of the proposal, has since modified his views and considers that it should not be adopted.

The Lieutenant-Governor accepts the views of the Director, and is of opinion that college classes should not be opened in the Madrassa.

10. Little need be said about the Committee's fourth suggestion, which is that periodical lectures on moral and historical subjects should be given to the students. As has been stated above, optional classes for moral training already exist in the Madrassa, while the subject of history enters largely into the curriculum of the Anglo-Persian Department. Moreover, under the new scheme of vernacular education, which has been introduced in the Madrassa, boys will be required to read history in the lower classes while preparing for the Upper Primary and Middle Scholarship examinations.

11. Nor are any remarks necessary as regards the Committee's fifth suggestion that the Principal of the Madrassa should be a whole time officer versed in Arabic and Persian, for the present Principal of the Calcutta Madrassa, Dr. E Denison Ross, fulfils both these conditions.

12. The sixth suggestion relates to the appointment of a Board of Visitors for the Calcutta Madrassa. The recommendation is made that a Committee consisting of a few Muhammadan gentlemen should be appointed for the purpose of periodically visiting the institution and making suggestions to the Principal as to the wants and requirements of the students and their general training.

The Muhammadan Literary Society have written:—

"The Committee beg to submit that, as far as they are aware, there is nothing to prevent any Muhammadan gentleman qualified by education and position to visit the institution and offer suggestions to the Principal. They have reason to believe that suggestions are generally offered and kindly received by him. Under Government orders there used to be for many years a Standing Committee in connexion with the Calcutta Madrassa, but you are aware that the said Committee, being unworkable, was discontinued. On the opening of the Elliott Madrassa Hostel in 1899, His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor was pleased to appoint a certain number of Muhammadan gentlemen members of the Board of Visitors, and since then only one meeting of the Board of Visitors of the hostel has been called, and even that was at the instance of a member. Under these circumstances the Committee do not approve of the appointment of a Board of Visitors as suggested by the Muhammadan Educational Conference."

The Director also has recorded his opinion that the appointment of a Board of Visitors would not be productive of much good.

In the circumstances, the Lieutenant-Governor does not consider it necessary to appoint a Board of Visitors

13. The views of the Committee of the Muhammadan Educational Conference concerning the Arabic Department of the Madrassa may be grouped under two heads, viz., (1) suggestions for a revision of the present course for the Madrassa examinations, and (2) proposals concerning a bifurcation of studies after a student has passed out of the junior fifth class of the Arabic Department.

14. Under the first head the Committee suggest a curtailment of the present course in Grammar and Logic, the study of which, it is said, affords little or no help to the improvement or development of the mind. They recommend the inclusion of History and Geography in the course, and urge the necessity of greater attention being paid to the study of Arabic Literature, both ancient and modern. An alteration in the present Law course is also proposed. The most important, however, of all the suggestions made under this head is that provision should be made for the teaching of Tafsîr and Hadîs (interpretations of the Koran and the Traditions) in the higher classes.

Regarding these subjects, the Committee write in paragraph 17 of their representation :—

"We have already commented upon the undesirability of students from Bengal going to the North-Western Provinces and the Punjab for the study of Muhammadan Theology. If a study of Hadîs and Tafsîr be introduced in the Madrassa, it will obviate the necessity of their going to distant places in quest of learning, and will in addition give great satisfaction to the Muhammadan population of Bengal."

The Muhammadan Literary Society are opposed to any curtailment of the courses in Grammar and Logic, and declare themselves in favour of the Madrassa curriculum being modified, if necessary, by the Principal of the Calcutta Madrassa. They approve of optional classes being held for the teaching of Tafsîr and Hadîs.

Dr. Ross recommends the opening of optional classes in Tafsîr and Hadîs, and agrees with the suggestions made by the Committee of the Conference as regards the teaching of History and Geography, and as to greater attention being paid to the teaching of Arabic Literature.

There appears to be a general consensus of opinion as to the great importance of the teaching of Tafsîr and Hadîs, and optional classes have already been opened in the Madrassa for these subjects. It is expected that this arrangement will supply a distinct want and obviate the necessity which the more ambitious theological students of the Arabic Department have hitherto felt of proceeding to other Provinces to complete their education. A revised course of studies for the Arabic Department has been drawn up by the Principal of the Calcutta Madrassa, which the Director will now take into consideration. The Lieutenant Governor agrees with Mr. Pedler that the Principal should be given a free hand in the selection of the new course.

15. The second proposal concerning the Arabic Department is that from the fourth class upwards two different courses should be taught, one partly English and partly Oriental, which the Committee would call the A Course, and the other purely Oriental, to be designated the B Course. In explaining their scheme for the adoption of alternative courses, the Committee state that the proposed A, or Anglo-Oriental, Course is intended for those students "who desire primarily to receive a fair education in different branches of Mussulman learning, and at the same time to acquire a knowledge of the English language, which will enable them after finishing their studies to try to obtain a decent livelihood," while the B, or purely Oriental, Course will meet the requirements of those who aspire to sound Oriental scholarship. The Committee are aware that optional classes for the teaching of English as a second language are already in existence, and that these classes are well attended. They are, however, of opinion that the experiment has not met with much success. They suggest that the burden of Oriental studies should be lightened for those students who attend the English classes, and that a fair portion of the day should be devoted to the study of that language. The Muhammadan Literary Society and the Principal of the Calcutta Madrassa object to any curtailment of Oriental studies in the proposed A, or Anglo-Oriental, Course.

The former write :—

"They have given their best consideration to the proposals in question, and are of opinion that the system of education at present in vogue in the Bengal Madrassa is based on sound principles, and is not by any means open to any reasonable criticism. The object a student of the Arabic Department has in view, is to acquire an efficient training in the Arabic language and literature, and not to fit or equip himself for public service. He is fully aware of the great advantages of purely English education, yet he prefers to acquire a sound knowledge of Arabic in all its branches for its own sake, on traditional or social grounds, which are well known to Government."

Again :—

"The Committee therefore, strongly object to the scheme suggested by the Committee of the Muhammadan Educational Conference to the bifurcating the system of studies There is no necessity for the A Course, which would comprise Arabic and Persian literature, Muhammadan Law, History (through the medium of Persian), and English as a second language, that is to say, as a compulsory subject, inasmuch as the Calcutta University fully meets such a demand. Under the Calcutta University, where English is compulsory, a Muhammadan student may acquire high proficiency in Arabic or Persian. The B Course, which would be purely Oriental, would comprise Arabic and Persian literature, Muhammadan Law, &c. This will considerably reduce the present high standard of the Arabic Department.

"The Committee respectfully submit, for the consideration of Government, that the scheme with respect to the re-organization of the Arabic Department of the Madrassas in Bengal, proposed by the Committee of the Muhammadan Educational Conference, will materially alter the policy and the principles under which the teaching of Arabic upon a high standard of proficiency has been carried on for more than a century, and frustrate the objects of the founder of the Calcutta Madrassa, and of the subsequent promoters of the Madrassas in Bengal."

The Principal of the Calcutta Madrassa writes:—

"What is most to be desired is that the standard of Oriental studies in the Arabic Department should be raised and original research encouraged. The present standard of the Department is not all that could be desired, and I maintain that the adoption of the bifurcation system advocated by the memorialists would involve a further lowering of that standard."

Mr. Pedler says:—

"The high Oriental standard of the Arabic Department must be maintained in its integrity, as only in that way could we justify the existence of that Department, and if we maintain that standard we can only teach English in the Arabic Department, as it is now taught, as an optional subject."

Even supposing that, without detriment to the standard of Oriental studies, more time could be devoted to the teaching of English, the proficiency attained in that language must always remain inferior to the high school standard, or to that attained in the Anglo-Persian Department; for, whereas in the Arabic Department English is studied throughout as a second language, and, like all other subjects in that Department, through the medium of Urdu or Persian, on the other hand in the Anglo-Persian Department English becomes, during the last four years of the course, the medium of instruction in all subjects. The Director is, therefore, of opinion that the proposed A Course would be out of place in the Arabic Department.

It has been reported to Government that upwards of two hundred students of the Arabic Department attend at present the optional classes in English. Dr. Ross is of opinion that, besides those who now study the subject, some ten per cent. would desire to learn it if they were not compelled, owing to poverty, to devote their leisure hours to private tuition. The Director considers that an attempt should be made to afford facilities to such students to join the English classes, but that nothing further is practicable.

Considering all these facts, the Lieutenant-Governor is of opinion that the introduction of a scheme for the bifurcation of studies is undesirable. His Honour concurs in Mr. Pedler's opinion that if a Muhammadan student of the Madrassa desires thorough English education he must join the Anglo-Persian, and not the Arabic, Department.

16. A further suggestion made by the Committee is that titles like Ustaz-ul-Adab, Ustaz-ul-Fiqh and Ustaz Usulid-Din should be conferred, after examination in special subjects, like Literature, Law, and Theology, upon students who have passed the Final Madrassa Examination, in the same way as titles are conferred on students of Sanskrit in recognition of their proficiency in different branches of Sanskrit learning. Government approves generally of the scheme, and the Director of Public Instruction will be desired to submit definite proposals on the subject for further consideration.

ORDER—Ordered, that copies of the Resolution be forwarded to the members of the Committee of the Muhammadan Educational Conference through the Hon'ble Mr. Justice Ameer Ali for information and to the Director of Public Instruction, Bengal, for information and for transmission to the Muhammadan Literary Society, Calcutta.

Ordered, also, that the Resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

A. EARLE,

Offg. Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

FIRST REPORT ON THE OILSEED CROPS OF OF BENGAL, 1902-1903.

THE following note is published for general information.

A. EARLE,
Offg. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

The 24th February 1903.

DEPARTMENT OF LAND RECORDS AND AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

Preliminary Forecast of the Oilseed Crops of Bengal, 1902-1903.

Explanatory.—This report furnishes preliminary estimates of the area and outturn of the different kinds of oilseeds, both bhadoi and rabi, grown in these Provinces.

The chief oilseed crops are linseed, rape and mustard and til. Over one-half of the total area under oilseeds, is devoted to rape and mustard, about one-fifth to linseed, and the remainder to til or gingelly, and minor oilseeds, including castor, niger-seed, &c. Most of the linseed is grown in Darbhanga, Saran, Champaran, Gaya, and Nadia, while the bulk of the rape and mustard crops is cultivated in the districts of the Rajshahi Division, in the Mymensingh and Dacca districts of the Dacca Division, in the Sonthal Parganas and Purnea districts of the Bhagalpur Division, and in Hazaribagh and Ranchi. Til or sesamum is mostly grown in Jessore, Bogra, Pabna, Dacca, Mymensingh, Backergunge and Tippera districts of East Bengal, and in the districts of Midnapore, Gaya, Angul and Hazaribagh.

2. Character of the season.—The monsoon rains were generally plentiful, but terminated abruptly in September. In that month there was good rain in Bihar and Chota Nagpur; in Northern Bengal the fall was greatly in excess of the normal, while elsewhere it was, on the whole, slightly in defect. October was unusually dry, and the following two months were marked by an almost total absence of rain throughout these Provinces. The drought continued through January in Bihar and East Bengal, while outside that area there were seasonable showers in all the chief oilseed-growing districts, except Murshidabad. There has been general and beneficial rain almost all over the Province during the current month, but the amount has been small. On the whole, the season has not been favourable to the oilseed crops.

3. Area sown.—Since the publication of the final forecast of the oilseed crops of 1901-1902, the District Officers of Hazaribagh, Tippera, Patna, Nadia, Jalpaiguri and the Sonthal Parganas have largely revised their estimates of the normal area under these crops, with the result that the provincial total of the normal area under them now stands at 3,841,300 acres against 4,043,500 acres reported last year. The area actually sown this year is returned at only 3,637,300 acres, as compared with 3,556,100 acres estimated to have been sown last year. The failure to sow the normal area is attributed to the drought at the latter part of the sowing season.

4. Character of the crop.—Rajshahi is the only important oilseed-growing district in the Province which anticipates a crop of 100 per cent. All the important oilseed-growing districts of Bihar, as well as Dinajpur, estimate an outturn varying from 90 to 99 per cent., while Murshidabad, Khulna, Pabna and Mymensingh expect from 80 to 89 per cent. of a normal crop. Rangpur, Dacca, Purnea, Hazaribagh and Manbhum expect from 70 to 79 per cent., and Midnapore and Nadia 65 and 60 per cent., respectively, but Bogra anticipates only 58 per cent., and Jessore 54 per cent. of a normal crop. The outturn for the Province, as a whole, will amount, according to the estimates of the District Officers, to 84 per cent. of a normal crop, but the district returns were submitted last month, and did not therefore take into account the improvement effected by the recent rain. I think, therefore, if general rain falls before the middle of March, it is probable that a 90 per cent. crop will be harvested in the Province as a whole.

(2) The figures of column 7 have been proportionately reduced. (3) Owing to excessive rainfall, there was water in the lowlands and this has caused the area under linseed to be smaller. (4) In the Sirajganj subdivision the cultivation of sunn-hemp has caused a decrease in the area of rape and mustard. (5) The decrease in the outturn of mustard is due to late sowing.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE MONTH OF JANUARY 1903.

In the early part of January and for the greater part of the first-half of the month fine settled weather of the usual cold season type prevailed over the Province and the north of the Bay Pressure was high at all northern stations, and northerly winds, with temperature normal or below, were general in Bengal. Towards the south of the Bay there was unsettled weather in the first week; but if these unsettled conditions were connected with some definite cyclonic disturbance, the depression was too far south to be shown by the Madras and Ceylon reports. The pressure gradient became steeper in the south-west of the Bay, there was some increase of wind which continued northerly throughout, and rain fell on the Madras coast as far north as Nellore between the 5th and 6th. The heaviest falls were from 2 to 3 inches at Madras and Nellore.

Pressure at the end of the first week was higher than usual in Bengal. A fall was beginning, however, and as it continued slowly and steadily for some days by the 11th the excess had disappeared. The steady increase of temperature also showed the approach of the shallow depression which appeared over the western districts about 12th

The influence of this slight depression as regards cloud and rainfall was almost entirely confined to the south-western districts. In fact in the north of the Province there was no rainfall until near the close of the month. But apparently owing to the slow moving shallow depression which entered the Province during the second week, showery weather continued in Orissa and Chota Nagpur from the 13th to the 20th. Showers also fell in Lower Bengal, chiefly in South-West Bengal, during that period, with, however, a break of three days between the 15th and 17th So that there would appear to have been two separate slight disturbances affecting weather over the south-west of the Province—one about the end of the second and the other towards the end of the third week.

The rainfall, which for Chota Nagpur and Orissa was considerably in excess of the normal for the month, nearly all fell during those days. The heaviest falls in Chota Nagpur occurred on the 17th and 18th and in Orissa on the 18th and 20th.

During the brief interval of comparatively settled weather in Orissa and Chota Nagpur about the 15th pressure was rising over Bengal The rise was moderate in the western districts on the 14th and over the central districts on the 15th, showing the usual easterly direction of progression of these shallow depressions, but the fall of temperature began in the north-east and from there spread south-westward. Probably the depression became diffused over the Bay, as on the 15th there was a small defect at nearly all the coast stations and a small excess inland.

Pressure was again falling in the western districts on the 16th and was general over the Province on the 17th, the greatest change being in South-West Bengal and the adjacent parts of Orissa and Chota Nagpur. This depression also moved south-eastward, and pressure was lowest over Burma on the 20th.

The low temperature which had followed the earlier of the two shallow depressions continued throughout in North Bengal and Bihar. The rise of temperature accompanying the second disturbance was well marked in Lower Bengal, to which the rainfall was confined, but after the depression moved south-eastward the wave of low temperature was felt in all parts in Bengal. On the 21st the mean deficiency in temperature varied from 5° in North Bengal and Bihar to 1° in Orissa and Lower Bengal.

From the 21st to the 25th fine dry weather prevailed over the whole Province with high pressure and northerly winds.

On the 24th pressure began to fall and temperature to rise in the western districts, showing the approach of another shallow depression. This disturbance differed from those which preceded it, as it influenced weather in the north more than in the south of the Province. The changes of pressure and temperature continued as above until the 26th, when mean temperature was 7° above the normal, a rise of 10° from the 23rd. Rainfall began on the 25th in Bihar, and was almost general but not heavy in the northern districts on the 26th. The rainfall area extended southward, and a few light scattered showers fell in the southern districts on the 27th and 28th The recovery began on the 28th, and cool dry weather was again general on the 29th and 30th, but it was of very brief duration, as a depression appeared over Lower Bengal and the north of the Bay on the 31st. The rather large and irregular changes which then occurred were accompanied by almost general rainfall in Lower Bengal and Orissa. Heavy rain fell at a few stations in East Bengal, and the average fall of ·6 inch shown in the table below for that division was almost all received on the 31st.

Pressure.—Slight depressions were more frequent than usual during the latter half of the month. They passed eastward or south-eastward over the Province and caused the usual small variations of pressure, a slow fall followed by a slow rise With one exception which passed over the northern districts they were shown chiefly over the south or south-west of the Province and became diffused over the north of the Bay.

As pressure was in large excess during the first week and again at the end of the third week, while at other times there was only a small defect, mean pressure for the month is above the normal by ·04 inch in North Bengal and by smaller amounts in other divisions.

Temperature.—During the settled period at the beginning of the month, cool weather for the season prevailed. Later, with the frequent occurrence of slight disturbances, preceded as usual by a rise and followed by a fall of temperature, there were considerable variations.

Maximum temperature on an average for the whole month was 2° below the normal in Orissa, and about half a degree in North Bengal. Elsewhere there was a small excess. Night temperatures were low over the whole of the north of the Province, while there was considerable excess in Chota Nagpur, Orissa and South-West Bengal.

Mean excess in Orissa was 1°·6, in Chota Nagpur 1°·3, and in South-West Bengal nearly 1°. In other parts of the Province mean temperature was practically normal, but in Assam there was defect of 2°.

Rainfall was more frequent than usual in the southern parts of the Province during the latter half of the month, but falls were in nearly all cases light. In the northern districts dry rainless weather continued unbroken except for one brief period towards the end of the fourth week, when a shallow depression moved eastward over Bihar and North Bengal. As three out of the four disturbances were felt in the southern districts, the rainfall for the month was above the normal in all divisions except Bihar and North Bengal.

Excess in Orissa was ·68 inch, in Chota Nagpur ·4 inch, and in Lower Bengal about ·2 inch. In North Bengal about two-thirds of the usual amount fell and in Bihar about one-third.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the Province for the month of January 1903 :—

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from eye observations.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.
